

WE NOMINATE

James Douglas Brown, a lifelong resident of New Jersey, a Princetonian for nearly a half-century and as Dean of the Faculty the second-ranking officer of Princeton University, who once again has caught the eyes and ears of American educators and laymen with an eloquent, reasoned plea for strengthening liberal education. It is the veteran dean's conviction that in a "climate of bigness and diversity" there is danger that we in America "may lose sight of those values in our society which size and complexity do not automatically enhance."

While stressing that a measure of our national strength is rooted in pluralism, and insisting that it would be a grievous "error of arrogance" to assert that this country should have but one type of institution of higher education, the outspoken educator is concerned with the well-being of the traditional university as contrasted with the "newer aggregations of educational, research and service instrumentalities" that have been defined as "multi-versities." In essence, Brown is appealing for "personal involvement in liberal learning" as opposed to the "big, useful and impersonal."

The 65-year old Brown, a native of Somerville and a member of the Princeton Class of 1919 whose undergraduate studies were interrupted by service as a "top sergeant" in the World War I A.E.F., uses the current issue of "The Atlantic Monthly" to capsule his philosophy of education. Compressed into four pages, under the title of "The Squeeze on the Liberal University," are the points of view he has developed and sharpened in his unprecedented 18 years as Dean of the Faculty and in some four decades as a teacher-economist dedicated to the tradition Woodrow Wilson described as "In the Nation's Service."

Numbered among the architects of this country's far-reaching social security program, and continuing to figure prominently in the evolution of national personnel and manpower policies, particularly those related to "senior citizens" struggling with the problems of retirement or physical disability, Brown for 29 years (1926-1955) directed the University's Industrial Relations Section, the oldest university research agency of its kind in the nation. A brochure issued in 1951 by friends of the Section stated succinctly: "Nothing short of a full-length biography could do justice to the personal characteristics and philosophy that have enabled him to accomplish so much."

A sample listing of Brown's past and present affiliations is indicative of his participation in "public affairs." A founder of the Community Chest (now the United Fund) and for long years an Elder of Princeton's First Presbyterian Church, his interests today range from the Board of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company to the Board of Trustees of the University of Rochester and the 13-member Federal Advisory Council on Social Security. The National Science Foundation, the Fund for Adult Education, the American Council on Education and nearly a dozen government agencies have all capitalized upon his seemingly infinite capacities for service.

For knowing that the rewards of an educator are "far more those of the mind and spirit than of a kind which impresses one's banker"; for helping others to see that the function of a university is to "help men look upward and beyond their special tasks"; for his devotion to the unifying concept of Town and Gown; he is our nominee as "IF WE STOP PUSHING... Will You Keep Moving?" An action group for civil rights will soon start fanning out from Princeton to trouble spots throughout the state.

"We want to produce cooperation, not conflict," says the director, the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson of Witherspoon Church. "However, if cooperation does not ensue, we'll produce conflict—a visible evidence that all is not well, even though leaders say all is well."

The group, labeled the "Commission on Religion and Race," has been established by the Synod of New Jersey of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. Some 400 churches are in the Synod.

The 16-member Commission includes laymen and clergy, Negro and white, from all parts of the state. John R. Yost, an elder at First Presbyterian Church, is chairman.

Training sessions for leaders began last month at the Commission headquarters, established at the Witherspoon Church. Trainees include housewives, seminary students, college students, businessmen, a waiter and two attorneys.

The Stall-In. "The leaders' training class is studying the myths," the Rev. Mr. Anderson says. "Take the stall-in. We've discussed all the hue and cry, who speaks for the Negro, the irresponsible leaders."

"We have decided there is absolutely no difference between the stall-in and the filibuster. These 15 men in the Senate have deliberately run out of gas on the highways of the nation. . . . It has been an irresponsible betrayal of every political and moral oath."

The group is exploring what the Rev. Mr. Anderson calls the double standard. "It's good if the white does it, evil if the Negro does it," and the answers to the comments against demonstrations on the grounds of violence. "We point out how violent WE are. We point out the use of cattle prods, fire hoses and police dogs. Is peace to be bought at that price?"

Dialogues. The group leaders will work in selected areas where there are critical tensions in racial and inter-faith matters, Mr. Anderson says. "We have had letters saying 'come help us' from Red Bank, Tenafly, Teaneck, Newark, Camden, Atlantic City and Millstone."

"We will set in motion a program called 'Dialogue,' bringing together eight Negro families and eight white families. They will meet in each other's homes for three evenings under a trained leader."

"This is a vehicle to put the involvement of human beings

ON TOP OF THE WORLD! The Unisphere will stand as the symbol for this Saturday's Princeton Country Day School Fair, even as it does for the New York World's Fair. Mrs. Richard Huber, who designed the Unisphere for P.C.D. (and maybe for New York, for all we know) is on top of the world in this picture. Below (left to right) are Richard Huber Jr., Henry Saxon, Alex Laughlin and Alfred Gardner Jr.

on a sound, moral basis for the consideration of racial justice. We're going to face together such things as housing, employment, de facto segregation, education, mixing, and whether the rights movement is going too hard or too slow."

Community Action. The Commission plans to study each community before plunging in. "We'll study the power structure—who makes the decisions and how best to reach the sources that effect change. We'll study the school facilities, the patterns in relationships in the community, the service clubs, the YMCA, YWCA and the churches."

"We're looking for the human relationships of the community . . . what are the painful, hard facts they want to obscure. We're particularly interested in the town that says 'we haven't any problems here.' Then we want to bring together the forces in the town that can influence."

The Commission is seeking to create groups and individuals who will be involved in visible protest "against the abuses of our constitutional guarantees and liberties," Mr. Anderson comments.

"This will mean that we will be involved with existing agencies, such as CORE, NAACP, the American Civil Liberties Union, building trades unions and other groups concerned with the total liberty of man and the elimination of the oppressions of the past."

ers meet regularly with the Rev. Mr. Anderson. They are studying two books, "The Secular Relevance of the Church," by the Rev. Dr. Gay Wilmore of Rocky Hill, who heads the Presbyterians' national action on religion and race, and "A Gospel for the Social Awakening," by Walter Rauschenbusch. Area members are Mrs. David R. Saunders of First Church, the Rev. Lesters A. Loetche of Princeton Seminary and the Rev. David Mayskens, Hightstown.

"I'm seven months behind a friend of mine, Charles Raylings," the Rev. Mr. Anderson says. "He's doing a similar job for the Presbytery of Cleveland. In seven months he has moved 1,200 upper and middle class Protestants into the fray.

He did it through dialogue people talking face to face freely.

"When people say 'don't push so hard,' the answer to that is 'can you guarantee that if we stop pushing, you'll keep moving?'"

WANT A BUILDING?

Borough May Sell. The Borough is considering the possibility of selling the brick building that is part of the former Lahiere-Kane property on Spring Street.

Mayor Henry Patterson said this week that the Borough is exploring the idea, and will entertain inquiries from anyone interested in buying the structure. It fronts on Spring Street.

What the Borough would really like is a property exchange swapping the brick building for land behind the "Lamp-lighter" parking lot and the Verheyest cleaning plant. Then the Borough could lay down an interior parking lot to connect with the "Lamp-lighter" lot. An interior lot would be out of sight and therefore inoffensive to the eye, the Mayor pointed out.

In the hackyard labyrinth between Tulane and Witherspoon Streets are the Farr Hardware Company's warehouse and vacant land owned by the Penway Property Company of New York.

BURGLARS ARE ACTIVE

Steal Cash and Cameras. Three Princeton business enterprises were visited last week by burglars.

Kline's Esso Station, Nassau Street and Murray Place, was entered early Sunday morning by a thief who took the receipts for the day, $379.92 in cash, and $376.94 worth of credit card slips. Police said the slips are valuable only to the owner, Mr. Kline.

The entry was discovered about 1:30 a.m. by Patrolman Charles Harris on foot patrol who noticed that a large window above the front door had been broken. The station had been closed at 10 Saturday evening by an employee.

On Saturday, David Kass, owner of the Wash-O-Mat, 259 Nassau Street, reported that his place had been entered and $30 in change stolen from a cigar box. Police investigated and said that entry was gained by knocking out a wooden louver at the rear of the shop.

Police also reported that the Esquire Restaurant, across the street from the Wash-O-Mat, was entered but apparently nothing had been taken. The thieves first entered a vacant building adjacent to the restaurant which used to house a part of the business operated by Mr. Kass.

Cameras Taken. Earlier in the week, Ulli Steltzer, a professional photographer with a studio at 8 Tulane Street, reported that two of her cameras were stolen while she was working in a darkroom in the rear of her shop.

Taken were a Hasselblad camera valued at $650 and a Roliflex valued at $404. The theft occurred sometime between 3 and 5 last Wednesday afternoon. Her car keys were also stolen, Mrs. Steltzer said.

Two more acts of car vandalism were reported by Borough police last week. On Saturday, Mrs. Wilma Davis, 48 Nassau Street, told police that her convertible car top was slashed while it was parked in the Palmer Square yard.

Two days later, Donald A. Rouse, 21 Palmer Square, reported he found a number of small cuts in the convertible top of his car which had been parked in the Hulfish Street yard. In addition, its side had been scratched from front to rear by a sharp instrument. "The old beer can opener treatment," said Chief McCrohan.

DR. DODDS RETIRES

"THIS IS THE THRUST of my life," says the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson of integrated Witherspoon Church, whose grandfather was the second Negro in the United States to receive a degree from Union Theological Seminary. (Story page one)

Mrs. J. Richardson Dilworth has been elected chairman to succeed Dr. Dodds, who will remain as honorary trustee for life. Arthur P. Morgan will be vice-chairman and Mrs. Arthur M. Sherwood and Hugh Sanson will continue to serve as secretary and treasurer respectively. New trustees filling expired terms are Mrs. E.B.O. Bergerhoff and Frederick P. Lawrence.

Dr. Dodds accepted the chairmanship of the Day School Board of Trustees on December 14, 1960, and played a major role in guiding the merger of Miss Fine's School and Princeton Country Day.

APARTMENTS?

That is the question. Zoning matters occupied the Borough Planning Board Monday night, but the main one on the agenda was by-passed altogether: the Board deferred consideration of Charles LaPlaca's Harrison Street apartment project until more facts are available. The Planning Board had been asked for its opinion of the project by Mayor and Council. At the Planning Board meeting, Mayor Henry Patterson commented, "I couldn't vote in favor of it," and Dr. Charles R. Erdman said "How can Mr. LaPlaca base his case to the Zoning Board on the fact that the public housing project will be in the next lot when he has sworn that he would keep the housing project out?"

Five suggested changes in the Borough zoning ordinance were presented by Lawrence Norris Kerr in behalf of the Princeton Real Estate Group. Mrs. Kerr said that the group hoped to return for detailed discussions with Planning Board members.

Of the five, numbers four and five would have the most impact on the community. Real estate agents want to see more apartments for "the elderly, the newly-wed and the unmarried."

Urges Apartments. "The health of the community requires housing for all social segments and age groups," Mrs. Kerr said. "Otherwise the town becomes one-sided and full of people who are not really interested in the community." She suggested that higher-income families in particular fell into the latter category.

"I couldn't agree with you more," said Mayor Patterson. "but this isn't just a Borough problem."

The real estate group would also like to re-zone the square bounded by Nassau, Witherspoon, Wiggins and Moore to allow "limited business"—that is, home-office combinations, so that people could combine their homes and occupations.

Mrs. Kerr said that two-thirds of the residential lots in R-1 are now non-conforming in size. Agents would like to see the zoning ordinance changed so that the size of these lots would be legalized.

In addition, the group wants an educational zone in the Borough.

"Parking is the impasse in creating an educational zone," Mayor Patterson told Mrs. Kerr. He also said that the question of creating a new ed-

CAN I BE MAY QUEEN WHEN I GROW UP? The answer at Miss Fine's School is "Why not? The race is open to all." This year's May Queen, crowned indoors because of uncooperative weather, is Sally Tomlinson (with crown). ucational zone was so complex that it was difficult even to identify the problems. He cited as an example of the difficulties involved in the University's sudden decision, some months ago, to move its proposed administration building from one site to another.

And finally, the real estate group made a plaintive plea for simplifying the language of the zoning ordinance. "Does it have to be so legal?" Mrs. Kerr asked.

WOMEN HITS POLE

On Terhune Road, Mrs. Ann K. Belford 30, Burat Hill Road, Skillman, was only slightly injured late Monday afternoon when her car jumped the curb and hit a telephone pole on Terhune Road. The accident occurred near the intersection of Meadowbrook Drive.

Mrs. Belford was treated at Princeton Hospital for a contusion of the nose by her father-in-law, Dr. Ralph J. Belford. Police made no charges.

John A. Mortenson, 25, of the Graduate College, was treated at Princeton Hospital for injuries he received in an accident at 5:30 Sunday morning on U.S. 1. He was released to the University infirmary.

Mr. Mortenson told State Police from the Princeton Barracks, who investigated the accident, that two deer jumped over the center barrier and into his path. As he swerved to the right to avoid hitting them, he said, his car spun around and skidded out of control.

The rear of his car then struck a pole. The mishap occurred between College Road and Raymond Road, within a mile of the State Police Barracks. There were no charges.

Mr. Mortenson received a slight concussion, multiple abrasions and a laceration of the neck. He was accompanied by Miss Catherine Walczak, 21, of South River, who remains in Princeton Hospital in serious condition. She is in the intensive care unit for treatment of severe head injuries.

dow. I heard a horn and turned to see an unoccupied car backing toward us. I tried to avoid it, but, in so doing, I was struck by the rear bumper below the knees." Thus, Mrs. Mary S. Sloneker, 38, of Hamilton, O., described, in part, an unusual accident which happened to her Thursday on Palmer Square.

Accompanied by two young sons, Mrs. Sloneker, was looking into the window of the Nassau Shoe Tree on Palmer Square when she was struck by the moving car. She was carried into the shoe store and attended by members of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad which had arrived almost at once. She was then transported to Princeton Hospital which reported her left leg had been fractured, her right leg badly bruised.

Driver of the car was Kenneth McEwen, 38, 27 Green Street. He told the investigating officer, John J. Bellow, that he had placed the trans-added that not too long ago the defendant had driven in a similar, erratic manner in an attempt to elude a patrol car.

Feathered folk and human folk alike were ready to admit that spring had finally arrived. It might even last a while, too. More delightful weather is in store for Thursday, the Man said, with a few clouds moving in by Friday. However, having provided two rain-free weekends in a row, he wasn't absolutely sure he could make it a third time. Showers, he admitted, are a possibility.

 mission lever in the "parked" position and had turned the motor off, after having parked on Palmer Square to go in to the Post Office.

However, witnesses questioned at the scene by Officer Bellow said that the motor had been running after the mishap. This was confirmed by Mrs. Stoneker. In his report, Officer Bellow also stated that he checked the car and had found the transmission lever to be in the "reverse" position, not the "park" position. A passer-by was reported to have shut the motor off after the accident took place.

Mr. McEwen was ticketed for failing to set a hand brake and not having his registration in his possession.

In Hunterdon County near Stockton early Monday morning, Miss Joan Meyer, 22, of 148 Library Place, was injured when her car went out of control and struck a utility pole on Route 29.

Her injuries included a possible fractured right shoulder, a possible concussion, lacerations and abrasions of the right ear and chest. She was taken to Hunterdon Medical Center and later reported to be in satisfactory condition. The accident occurred at 1:05 a.m.

P.C.D. Fair Saturday. If you throw the ball into the bowl, you get a live turtle as a prize. If you have a good pitching arm, you can hit a live face with a wet sponge and if you have a hollow leg, you can spend all day eating hot-dogs, cotton candy and frozen custard.

It is, of course, Princeton Country Day School's annual Fair, marked down for this Saturday from 11 to 4 on the school grounds, Broadmead. Proceeds go into the school's scholarship fund.

The Yoga Wheel will be the top attraction (and bottom, too, considering its effect on the law of gravity). Children (and parents) will love being upside down and topside up. There will be a rope climb, a Beauty Contest (Mrs. Richard Hughes will select the King and Queen for crowning), an Art Gallery and Hobby Show. The make-up booth will be there again, and so will the tattoo booth.

And for those who like thrills, how about the Whip and the Swing-Away? Pony rides for the less daring. And to sustain, refreshment booths, baked goods to buy and take home, and plenty of hot-dogs.

News Of The THEATRES

"SHOWBOAT" IS TOPS

P. J. & B. Production Excels. They used to say that the sign of a crackerjack musical was the number of people who came out of the theatre humming all the tunes.

Well, the four McCarter audiences who saw the P. J. & B. "Showboat" last weekend came out humming the tunes. All right, because the full, lilting melodic character of the Jerome Kern score was richly sustained by all the P. J. & B. players in this warm, colorful and affectionate presentation.

In short, everybody did a swell job. "Showboat" is probably the best amateur musical given in Princeton in many, many years.

The biggest slice of credit goes to Milton Lyon, professional musical comedy director who made good with his cast of amateurs. And what a cast! Advance publicity said 125 singers and acros, and although we didn't count, we assure you that Hugh Hardy's Shakespeare Festival stage was crammed to its top deck with chorus and principals taking curtain calls. (And curtain calls, and curtain calls and curtain calls . . . talk about audience enthusiasm!)

Mr. Lyon manipulated this large cast and the 16 "Showboat" scenes with such finesse that there was never a break in the smooth flow. Each scene followed with the speed of a finger click and so far as we could tell, without a missed cue. Within each scene, the pace was just right—a good, brisk walk that never flagged, never broke into a needless run.

The Great Ziegfeld. He had some fun with this production,

Mr. Lyon did, playing Flo Ziegfeld himself by directing a platoon of feather-clad Ziegfeld Girls to walk in that Ziegfeld strut down the sacred steps of this Elizabethan stage; insinuating Princeton's Palmer Squares (a barbershop octet) into a couple of slick and soapy songs from the '90's and allowing a comedienne (Joan Lucas) to strut her own hour upon the stage in a comedy dance routine.

Imaginative directing, deft casting and plenty of good singers were the success factors in this "Showboat." Although his role was small, Hosea Williams Jr. as "Joe" was the outstanding singer. His "Ol' Man River," sung with deliberation, revealed a rich, yet clear and resonant voice, deep and strong as the river itself.

Debbie Truxal ("Magnolia") has a true, steady voice which showed its professional training and in addition, she has the sweet, lovely young face to go with the role. She and Ashby Adams ("Ravenal") made a charming pair of musical comedy lovers.

Stuart Duncan was first-rate as "Cap'n Andy," especially in a lengthy comedy scene in which he played, simultaneously, the two lighters in a brawl.

Dance and Song. Joan Lucas, a former professional singer and dancer whose personality is reminiscent of Joan Davis—if anybody remembers Joan Davis—succeeded with an amusing sequence of comedy dance routines, chewing on a rose as a Spanish dancer, executing a few Arab ululations and playing the ballerina in a pair of red stockings.

Paired throughout with Greg Farrell, she proved an exuberant foil for the bitter sweetness of the other female members of the cast.

Like Mr. Duncan, Mr. Farrell was assigned a comedy scene, and like Mr. Duncan, he came off beautifully. He drew an encounter with "Cob-Motherless Child," but a Negro member of the chorus who sparred with the towering Mr. S., dressed improbably as a backwoodsman in fringed jacket and bare chest, to see who would—well, to see who would steal the scene? It was a draw. Two winners. And Mr. Farrell, who had succeeded before in portraying mildly brash young men for P. J. & B., showed this time that he is a skillful hooper as well.

COSTUMES BY RENNIE: When Shirley Rennie takes up her needle, things happen in the costume department of any Princeton show. With 125 actors and a 40-year story span, Miss Rennie had a rack-full to handle for the P. J. & B. production of "Showboat," but every ruffle had just the right bounce and every top hat just the right snap. (Staff Photo)

Jean Bishop, as "Julie," found her most expressive moment when she sang "Bill" in true Helen Morgan style from the top of a small piano. In similar fashion, Dorothy Alexander as "Queenie" was at her best in the spiritual, "Sometimes I Feel Like a the river (remember when Steve and Julie blend the blood from their cut fingers so he can say he has Negro blood in him? And how Magnolia gets her big chance in the night club because the regular singer is drunk and how was she to know it was poor Julie, sacrificing to give her the Big Chance?), nobody in the McCarter audience snickered, and this is probably the best tribute east and director could have.

That versatile instrument the two-decker Festival stage was perfect for this production, and the balcony where Romeo wooed Juliet served admirably as the top deck of the "Cotton Blossom."

Shirley Rennie's costumes for those 125 people cover a span of 40 years and that's a lot of costumes. She dressed her players with gaiety and imagination.

It was a warm and happy idea to give "Showboat" and it is pleasant to report on its success. Only one complaint: Marion ("The Bait") O'Pdycke was hidden in such a melee of chorus and activity in the World's Fair scene that we almost missed her. Next year, bring 'er up front!

WHO'S ON ZITHER?

Native Dancers Bring Instruments. The Philippine nose flute, a bamboo zither and gongs of all shapes and sizes will provide the accompaniment for the Bayanihan dancers when the Philippine group comes to McCarter Theatre Tuesday at 8:30.

The dancers have divided their program into five parts: Dances of the Mountain Region, Fiesta Filipina, the Muslim Suite, Regional Variations and the Rural Philippines Suite.

The Muslim Suite includes the "Singkil," in which the dancing prince and princess dart in and out among clacking bamboo poles which can break ankles if there is a misstep.

After leaving McCarter, the Bayanihan will fill a three-week World's Fair engagement at the New York State Theatre of Lincoln Center.

ECHO TRIUMPHS

In "Sleep of Prisoners," The Chapel Deacons have lost a round to the acoustics of Princeton University Chapel. Dean Ernest Gordon should have warned them you can't keep a good echo down.

The cast of four presented Christopher Fry's intricate drama "A Sleep of Prisoners" against real odds. Each passionate, reverberating word joined hundreds of others in a sound technician's nightmare. Who the players shouted—and they shouted often—the sense of their words was lost in a glorious uproar.

Peter Lawrence, a member of Triangel, is cast as Private David King, who in one dream sequence believes himself to be the Biblical King David. Stephen Kaplan, who played the role of Peter in Theatre Intime's "Zoo Story," is Private Peter Able. James Beirman is Private Tim Meadows and Philip Paul, a former member of Her Majesty's Royal Fusiliers and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, is cast as Corporal Joe Adams.

The playwright's four soldiers are prisoners in a church chancel. The drama contrasts their actual relationships with their dreams about each other.

At times, the actors achieved the right pitch of voice to defeat the echoing walls. Then the words came through with cadence and great beauty.

The play will be repeated at midnight this Friday and Saturday, and again at 8:30 p.m. on May 15 and 16.

ARE YOU A SPORT?

Movies Just for You. A surfing movie, "The Angry Sea" by John Severson, and the second part of Leni Reifenstahl's documentary, "Olympia" have been scheduled for sports fans by the McCarter Theatre lacrosse, softball and booking department.

The Severson feature-length color film has spectaculars of the surf along Southern California, Mexico and Hawaii coasts, and it will be shown to inland Princetonians on Friday, May 15, at 8.

Miss Reifenstahl's "Olympia"—Part II has the swimming, wrestling, sailing, rowing, gymnastics and cycling events in the 1936 Olympics and, in addition, the Glenn Morris decathlon. It will be shown next Wednesday at 8.

For those who can still take Shakespeare after all this time, McCarter will show the Olivier "Henry V" next Thursday, May 14 at 8 p.m., followed, the next Thursday after that, by "Hamlet."

... COMPRENEZ-VOUS?

Ici "La Kermesse Heroique," Last presentation of the season in the Princeton French Club

Film Series will be "La Kermesse Heroique," scheduled for McCarter Theatre on Monday at 8 p.m. Made in 1936 and starring Louis Jouvet and Francoise Rosay, "Kermesse" bears the English title of "Carnival in Flanders."

According to the French Club film committee, the movie is "considered a triumph of wit and of historical reconstruction: one of the classics of comic film-making." The New York Times supports their opinion with: "A great comedy... speaks a universal language."

IT'S NEW To Us

... AND RUST-PROOF
What Hath Been Wrought.
The happiest news about wrought-iron furniture in this particular spring is that it's rust-proof. If you bought furniture last year from Nassau Interiors' Meadowcraft collection, you've certainly been able to test the rust-proofing these past few weeks and to give all your friends testimonials about Meadowcraft's imperviousness to wet.

Well, Nassau Interiors is back on the patio with Meadowcraft again. What'll it be this year? An umbrella table, in 42 or 48-inch diameter, perhaps, or that new spring chair with its high back for the gardener's weary head.

The new color this spring is "Frost" blue, which is a pale blue with white overlay.
There's a true sky blue, also,
and white and antique green - that black-green that's so attractive outdoors.

If you have youngsters in the family, or rambunctious guests, you may like the diamond grid pattern for table tops. We rather lean toward the clouded, rippled glass tops, with the ripple underneath so you can set your dishes on smooth glass.

You needn't worry about the deprecations of children, actually, because this glass can take anything. According to the manufacturer, it has been treated to take "tremendous localized impact," which means that a six-year-old can beat it with a hammer, almost, and it will fight back. The man at Nassau Interiors dropped a sample on the floor, just to show us, and all that happened was noise.

Wrought iron and glass make a cool and graceful pair, as you know, especially the translucent, rippled glass, combined with the Spanish trend in design, carried over from the
'63 models. Many chairs, for example, have slender, high backs with the air of a grandee. Some are quite ornate in design, others are spare enough to fit into a modern dining-room.

New this summer is a fabric upholstery, showing cheerful arrangements of flowers.
You may have the plastic too, of course. One set (3-cushion couch, two upholstered chairs, coffee table and two end tables for $199) has plastic on one side and fabric on the other, in a pleasing assemblage of light blue-green flowers.

The shop is particularly enthusiastic about its nest of three grid-top wrought iron end tables for $18. There are marbletop single tables, too, and glass top ones with leaves showing through.

To complement the wrought iron, Nassau Interiors has white, walnut or black director's chairs and settees. We like the bright red peacock chair with its practical vinyl cover over the cane.

And a real rope hammock,
too. (You know what a hammock is, don't you? It's holes tied together with rope.) This one comes in $25, $30 and $35 size and is made of real, real rope.

(How about a harem stool for Mother's Day? It's a wicker doughnut with a black vinyl upholstered seat in the middle and a stubby pedestal to hold it off the floor.)

THE LONG, THE SHORT

Lingerie for Mother. When you stop at Edith's on Chambers Street for a bit of Motherer's Day lingerie, you'll have to choose from long or short robes, long or short gown-robe sets, long or short gowns, to say nothing of such charming miscellany as lace-trimmed petti-slips (culottes, actually),
slips with stretch lace tops, bra-slips that eliminate the need for any bra at all, silk-nylon crepe luxury slips with satin applique and flower-strewn halfslips with matching panty. You still with us?

For $12.98, you may have a pink, blue, or yellow short robe with round neck and fresh white rickrack trim, or a deep rose pink "silk" robe with Persian print and slide slits.
Comes long, too, in which case it turns Chinoiserie with Mandarin collar.

If you have $49.98, you'll take home the magnificently full and flowing hostess robe in pale blue tricot, cut very low to a U in back, high in front, with front zipper and a satin sash. All the fullness is in the back.

But if you have only $16.95, you'll be just as glamorous in a long pale blue dacron cotton and robe, snugly fitted with a front zipper and trimmed with matching blue lace.

To send you packing, Edith's suggests a silk-like rayon in ivory with big, bright, blue flowers all over it, fashioned

A Bikini for Mother

They'll be whistling at Whistler's mother this year because she is wearing a Bikini purchased in her behalf from Edith's.

We are speaking now of
lingerie, not swim wear.
This Bikini is a bon-bon of lace, satin applique and ruffle, incorporating about one-sixteenth ounce of fabric, if you add it all up. Edith has it in six different colors; and six different combinations of satin, lace and ruffles. Red and black, black, pale blue, pink, lemon and white. $3.

In addition, there are Bikini sets, consisting of bra and panty made entirely of looped nylon tricot ruffles in concentric circles. Black or white. You can carry the whole set home in your wallet.

with a peignoir back and ideal for travel. It's $14.98. A coachman style in powder blue dotted Swiss comes with white eyelet lace trim, and a size range to 20.

Perhaps the most exciting set at Edith's is the long ensemble with fitted gown, Empire bodice and spaghetti straps and its companion robe, cut to a low U-neck in front to match the cut of the gown, and flowing out extravagantly in back. The fabric is the most fluid Antron tricot, the print a pale garden of orchids, pinks and corals.

For a tailored woman, Edith's suggests a similar ensemble in daffodil yellow whose straight, full robe is

Meiendorfer in June

Villains, swooning heroines and muscular heroes may try for parts in the June melodrama to be produced, as before in previous June, by Princeton Community Players.

An open meeting will be held this Sunday at 8:30 in Murray Theatre on the university campus, and anyone who is interested may attend and try out. Membership in Community Players is not necessary.

News Of The Theatres

shrewdness, the club has set a price of 75c for "others."

THE PLAYHOUSE

South Pacific (through Tuesday) is a reissue (not a remake) of the Rodgers and Hammerstein hardy perennial which opened on Broadway in 1949 as a musical stage show, opened in Hollywood in 1958 as a musical film edition of the same book. Like all R. & H. musicals, it exudes charm, as well as corn that grows "as high as an elephant's eye," as the authors unwittingly described their productions in "Oklahoma!"—an earlier opus.

"South Pacific" is a pleasant, lighthearted account of W.W. II in, obviously, the South Pacific. The movie version does not measure up to the Broadway original, but then there are millions of people now of moviegoing age who were too young to see the Mary Martin stage hit. Plus millions more, who, though they were old enough, didn't—in spite of its nearly 2,000 performances.

The picture still has plenty of charm, in addition to the R. & H. ballads which are now almost old enough to sound new. If you're one of the many who didn't get to see "South Pacific" earlier, or one of the many who want to see it again and again, here's your chance.

THE PRINCE AND THE DANCER

Tom Jones (now playing) is the magnificent, bawdy, boisterous, beautiful, call-it-what-you-will movie of Henry Fielding's 18th Century Classic, "The History of Tom Jones, a Foundling." The film is a far-out, hilariously conveyed, delightfully outrageous picture of life as it was then. It's just won four Oscars—including the most coveted: "best picture."

TWO CLIFFORDS AND 4-11: Clifford H. Cortelou of Franklin Park presents a 4-11 memento to Clifford P. Case, Republican senator from New Jersey, while in Washington representing the state to the National 4-H Conference. Kip is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford S. Cortelou, and is studying vocational agriculture at Princeton High School as a senior.

It also has already brought more people to both The Garden and The Prince than any film ever shown at either theater. And justifiably.

Fleming's original is, and will continue to be, rated as the greatest comic novel in the language. Now Tony Richardson's movie adaptation has made it into a film which is, and also will continue to be, an absolutely magnificent cinema entertainment.

It's a triumph. Run, don't walk, to the nearest entrance—and have a good time. You can't miss.

It's New To Us

edged around the neckline and down the front with a two-inch band of lace. Both these ensembles crowd the $50 price range.

And for $25, there is a tone-on-tone cotton (white or yellow), satin piped with flat, round collar, puffed sleeves and a gown that falls from a Y-yoke at the neck.

A white lace coat, waltz length, flares over an orchid, green or white shift gown, lace-trimmed. ($25.95) An aqua dacron and cotton set ($12) has a cool, low neckline and white applique.

Enough material for a parachute in the long pink treet gown, unadorned except for its single satin applique. And, in dramatic contrast to all the spring pastel, here's a full-length black, almost as full-skirted as the pink, with a dash-lined lace Empire bodice which you draw snugly with a string.

ACROSS THE NET

Ski Turns to Tennis. Snow being off the ground—if not rain—The Ski at 20 Nassau turns to tennis. Rackets by Wilson, Bancroft, Davis. Prices from $10 for a strung racket to $37 for a strung Victor Imperial. The shop specializes in stringing, by the way, and does the work right there at 20 Nassau, with one-day service.

Townway and Aspen Active tennis dresses are classic princess or active shift, and in between. An Arnel shift has red and navy trim at the slit sides (boxer shorts underneath) and a pique has red and navy piping to outline the princess lines, with a tiny bow at each hip. An all-white has a lowered waistline that meets a brief, pleated skirt. Sizes in tennis dresses are 7-16.

Fred Perry, the English line of tennis wear, is classic for both men and women. The separate pleated skirts look like fine challis, are actually drip-dry, distinguished by two-inch bands of pale sage green and the characteristic Fred Perry wreath.

An all-wool woman's sweater in narrow rib has a turnover collar with pale blue piping against the white. Women's tennis shirts in white mesh follow this turnover collar style. Some are sleeveless, some have short sleeves.

Cable knit pullovers for men are trimmed with the English colors—maroon and light blue—or the American colors—bright red and navy—or are solid white, if he can't make up his mind about nationality.

Off the court, The Ski has Bermudas for women in a delightful floral linen rather like a Liberty Print, and wonderful solids in colors like raspberry, blueberry, butter yellow and the like. Batiks and Madras, of course.

A "linen" shift has brown, olive, gold and pink in happy disarray against a natural ground. A smock by County Casual has the high yoke and long sleeves of a pig-tailed beauty. Just about knee length, by our calculation. The print is olive and terra cotta.

Helanca stretch overblouses are long or no sleeved, done in horizontal pinstripes against poison green, lime yellow and the like. Solids, too. Overblouses (woven, not knit or stretch) have shirt or Bermuda collars.

Think we've forgotten the men? Ski's Bermudas, in Madras or solids, are by Borenstein.

TOWNSHIP REPORT

Building Permits Down. In a brief meeting (40 minutes) Monday night, Township Committee awarded the bid for grading Community Park to a company that bid $45,000 less than the estimate of Township engineer Frank Quinby. The bid — $84,250 — went to C. J. Pardon of New Brunswick. Bids ranged as high as $159,000 for the project.

An ordinance reducing permit fees was passed on first reading and will be up for public hearing on Monday, June 1. The ordinance, drawn at the request of Princeton University, is designed to ease things for builders of expensive buildings. It will retain the present $4-per-$1,000 floor, but will fall off sharply as building costs rise, to a $1-per-$1,000, and over.

Township Attorney Gordon Griffin explained that the building permits are not intended as revenue-producers for the Township anyway.

Mr. Griffin also reported that there is nothing the Township can do about traffic conditions in the Princeton Shopping Center except to rely on the conscience and public relations sense of the center's owners. The state's Bureau of Traffic Safety told Mr. Griffin it would disapprove any regulatory ordinance because the center is private property.

Residents of Terhune Road who live between Ewing and Walnut got their reduction in the Terhune paving assessment, as the result of a petition submitted several weeks ago. They will now pay two-thirds of the cost instead of the whole cost, a revision which brings them into line with other residents along Terhune who have been assessed for the paving of various portions of the street.

ANNUAL MEETING SET

For Family Service Agency. "Hello and Goodbye," a play about the normal problems faced by toddlers and teenagers, will be given by members of the Princeton Community Players at the annual meeting of the Family Service Agency of Princeton next Thursday, May 14, from 8 to 9:30 p.m. The meeting, which the public is invited to attend, will be held in the Parish House of Trinity Church.

Following the program, which has been arranged to introduce Family Service's new family life education discussion groups, Carl Scott, of the Child Study Association of America will lead a discussion. Mr. Scott has been instructing the Princeton agency's staff in the techniques of leading these groups.

Also at the meeting, this slate of new officers and board members will be presented. Anthony J. Maruca, to serve as treasurer for two years; Mrs. Wells Drorbaugh Jr., Mrs. Frederick S. Dunn and Mr. Maruca to serve as board members for three years; Mrs. William B. Bretnall and Mrs. W. Arthur Lewis, now filling out unexpired terms of resigned board members, each to a three-year term; John F. Bernard, Chester R. Stroup and Mrs. William H. Walker to serve their second three-year terms.

Bernard M. Barenholtz will continue as president until 1965; Leighton H. Laughlin as vice president until 1966, and Mrs. Edward M. Earle as secretary until 1965.

OLEG CASSINI HERE

For Benefit Fashion Show. Oleg Cassini, leading fashion designer will be featured at a luncheon fashion show at the Princeton Inn on May 25, at 1 p.m. for the benefit of the Central New Jersey Chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation. Mr. Cassini will narrate the show using his own designs and models from his New York showroom.

Students in the art department at the Valley Road School are making posters for the event, according to Mrs. M. Credo Baker, chairman of the Princeton's women's committee. Mrs. Tallman Bissell and her committee will judge the posters on May 14.

Winners of the two poster awards will receive two tickets to the Playhouse and a "pancake feast for two" at P.J.'s Pancake House. Posters will be displayed by Princeton stores following the judging.

The luncheon committee has also announced that door prizes will be awarded and that

YMCA HONORS TWO
For Distinguished Service. Ralph S. Mason, secretary-treasurer of the Princeton YMCA board of trustees, and Raymond F. Male, former Borough mayor, received Distinguished Service Awards at the annual meeting held this week. Mr. Mason has been active in Y affairs here since 1948 and Mr. Male since 1943.

Norman Thomas, Princeton University alumnus and longtime leader of the Socialist party in this country, spoke at the dinner, which was attended by 140 people.

Awards were also presented to James Jones by the Alan Furst Jensen Memorial Radio Scholarship Fund and to Donald O'Hara, president of the Pennington YMCA, who accepted the trophy they won at the Mercer County Y Golf Tournament at Buck Hill Falls. Also, John Houston, 11, read his winning essay which was part of a competition held this year for all Camp Ranger participants who journeyed in Nova Scotia last summer.

Elrie G. Endersby, president of the Princeton YMCA, presided at the business meeting. Mr. Mason gave a report from the board, and B. Franklin Bunn made the report of the nominating committee.

Toastmaster was A. C. Reeves Hicks, and the Rev. Carl D. Beiners gave the invocation. The Wayfareers' teenage folk-singers, provided music for the evening.

Fellowships will be given to 51 women in this country for advanced research and study, as well as to 28 from Europe, Latin America, Asia, the Middle East and Africa. The scholars will be working in the natural and physical sciences, including medicines, and the humanities.

RUMMAGE NETS $3,000

For Hospital. Spring rummage, offered to and by Princeton residents, netted $3,261 for the Hospital Aid Committee and Princeton Hospital. Mrs. Paul G. Herkert, treasurer of the committee, announced the results this week.

Mrs. Edward LeB Marshall, vice-president in charge of sales, has extended to the Princeton community the thanks of the Hospital Aid Committee for support.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET

Dr. Lockard to Speak. Discrimination problems in New Jersey and in Princeton will be explored by Duane Lockard at the May meeting of the Princeton Democratic Club to be held next Wednesday at 8:30 in the Chestnut Street Firehouse. The public is invited.

A member of the university's department of politics, Dr. Lockard has just completed a study of discrimination and its effect on employment, housing and education in New Jersey.

Person To Person

Cory S. Kommier

We ran across a list of translations which pre-tends to tell just what a politician means when he gives out with the more polished phrases. Examples "A great many friends have been urging me to permit my name to be entered." Translation "I sure would like to have the job." "My worthy opponent." Translation: "The lossy bum." "Candor compels me to say . . ." Translation: "Here's the dirt . . ." "My good friends of the opposition claim . . ." Translation "Don't believe anything those bums say." "I will speak only briefly." Translation "Don't put on your hats. I'm good for a couple of hours." "Vast sums of money will be spent in an effort to defeat me." Translation: "I have a hard fight . . . put a little money in the pot boys." Of course the list was compiled in good fun, but seriously, you never want any double talk in business. Giving you straight, honest facts is part and parcel with our seeing to it that you get maximum long run value with true economy. May we please serve you for mutual benefit? ### No Time for Bouquets.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I read with some dismay the interpretation placed by Mrs. Vomacka on your report of the Princeton Adult School Forum. On most points I agree most heartily with Mrs. Vomacka, and as a matter of fact many of her suggestions were considered in my presentation. Had she been present at the Forum, I doubt if she would have found cause to challenge much of what was said.

The objective of my five-minute commentary, an introduction to a forum discussion, was not to present accolades for the progress that has been made, but rather to bring out the problems as they have been reflected to me from those who feel victimized.

Significant gains have been made in Princeton, but it is fundamental to progress in the civil rights area that we never permit our successes, no matter how impressive, to become unassailable sacred cows. In spite of much hard work and many good intentions, the task—that of the provision of equal opportunity for all and the establishment in everyone's understanding, the obvious fact that the hue of a man's skin bears no relation to his character, his ability, his performance, his aspirations, his dreams—this task remains unfinished.

This was the substance of my remarks. I specified no particular group and had no particular group in mind, but rather attempted to emphasize that the problem of "low expectation level" is one which must be met on all levels within the whole community and throughout the entire school system.

I dealt with the Princeton Plan at some length from the point-of-view that although 15 years ago integration of the two borough schools by pairing was foresighted and imaginative, it has had little impact in altering the racial composition of our neighborhoods, or in eliminating prejudice. Therefore I do not believe that we Princetonians are ready yet to sit back and accept our bouquets—much too much remains to be done.

For those who are interested, complete copies of my remarks are available at the PAIR office, 170 Witherspoon St.

Disturbed Newcomer.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a newcomer to Princeton, I have never been more disgusted than at present, at the obvious partiality shown toward one organization at the expense of another, at the Princeton High School.

On April 21, I attended at the High School, a combined band concert. It consisted not only of 40 members of the Princeton High Symphonetta Band, but also of 81 members of the High School "Hornet Band" from Mansfield, Massachusetts.

Had it not been for the 30 chaperones from Massachusetts, I believe the Bands would have out-numbered the audience. A great deal of time and effort was involved in producing this joint concert. This was certainly obvious in their fine performance, and shown in their versatility, with a program including selections from J. S. Bach through the various marches and on to "Hello, Dolly."

Perhaps the lack of audience is due to the "publicity" given by the various papers in town, and by our worthy (?) radio station. All local papers were given the same information, yet the only one to present an article worthy of this exchange concert, and in a "spot" in the news, was the Hopewell Valley News—not even a local paper. It is strange that in your paper the article was neither in the section concerning "Music in Princeton" nor in the Calendar of events.

I think it is disgraceful that the parents of the High School students could not be courteous enough to extend a decent welcome to this fine group of boys and girls from Massachu-

ancient, but newly created Bucks County Walking Sticks

Bucks County Walking Sticks are as old as primitive man, and yet as new as tomorrow. They are painstakingly hand-shaped of oiled walnut hand-rubbed to a soft lustre and capped with a crown of brass and sterling silver. An inlaid brass nameplate accommodates the owner's monogram in raised sterling. Handsome and stately, these Walking Sticks are brass and rubber-tipped. They arrive cased in sleekly tanned black cloth bags with white drawcords. Walk with them, admire them, even use them as a cudgel for self-defense, if necessary.

settla, or for that matter, support their own High School Band. Where is the prestige of this cultured community of which I have heard so much? Most the Band go to Europe to obtain recognition in their own home town?" (Mrs.) IRIS GIBBS
Burnt Hill Road
Blawenburg
Editor's Note: TOWN TOPICS carried a story on the concert a week before it was held. The facts were received too late for inclusion in either Music in Princeton or Calendar of the Week, which must go to press somewhat earlier than other sections of TOWN TOPICS.

Record Set Straight.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Nominations as "Princeton's Man of the Week" is a high honor and puts me in distinguished company. However, Sydney C. Stevens of 5 Springdale Road is Chairman of the Board of First Trenton National Bank and, therefore, is chief executive officer, responsible for the direction of the bank.
You can imagine my embarrassment to be promoted to his position. I should like to set the record straight.

The Policemen's New Weapon: "Instant Ticketbooks"
"The axe is going to drop: I'm tired of warning the same people for the same thing year in and year out."
At the end of his rope is Borough Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan, who reports that after 29 years in the police department he has finally gotten something he's wanted for a long time: a summons book for those who disobey Borough ordinances.
Henceforth, all patrolmen, in addition to their traffic summons book, will carry a municipal violations book, containing summonses they can issue on the spot. In the past, before they could issue a summons, they had to return to headquarters and locate the magistrate who would then issue a summons—a time-consuming process.
Chief target will be those who ride bicycles on Nassau Street; dog owners who fail to obtain new licenses; home owners who refuse to shovel their sidewalks or who insist on placing trash between the sidewalk and curb.
This new-type summons will be answerable—recipients must appear before a magistrate. Said Chief McCrohan, "I expect this will simplify enforcement in this town a great deal."

concerning the extent of the Negro's subordinate position in Princeton, that the Negro is excluded from more adequate housing because of his insufficient income. To be sure, the many documented handicaps which plague the Negro child during his most formative years result in an adult who is ill prepared to compete for jobs which might elevate his chances of having sufficient income to purchase the desired housing.
But the crucial issue emerges when we evaluate the housing status of the Negro who manages to overcome the obstacles and acquire the acceptable educational and financial requisites. Does he fare any better than his less fortunate brother?
It can be demonstrated that the "acceptable" Negro may be permitted to investigate a home for sale in one of the "open areas" and be faced with over-demand and under-supply, or he may be referred to a committee which though indefatigable and unquestionably sincere, labors under handicaps of a quantity comparable to that of its client. Finally, he may be told that housing for him simply cannot be located in the Princeton area, regardless of his urgency.
The record will show that within the past seven months, subsequent to the signing of the much publicized covenant, three Negro professional men with Ph.D. degrees made exhaustive efforts to locate housing in Princeton Township over a period of almost one year each. After efforts by local groups and companies (in one case the organization was a national one of extensive prestige), the men and their families were referred, individually, to one of the "open areas", where one of them eventually found quarters.

MUSIC In Princeton

MCCARTER CONCERT SET
For University Band, The Borough Elementary School
PTA will sponsor the first
"Young Peoples Band Concert"
next Thursday, May 14, at 3:30 in McCarter. The University Concert Band members will explain some of their instruments to the audience followed by a musical selection featuring the particular piece.
Tickets for unreserved seats are available at McCarter at 50 cents each. The Band has given recent concerts at Randolph-Macon College and over
WABC-FM with the Yale Band.
Band instruments will be on display in McCarter's lobby for the audience to examine and handle, courtesy of Krechmer Music in Trenton. Robert Leist, a graduate of the Juillard School of Music, will direct the Band. He has conducted other concerts of this type with different groups.

CONCERT BAND TO PLAY
In Three Performances.
Princeton University's Concert Band will give the first in a series of three performances this Wednesday at 7 p.m. on the steps of Nassau Hall. The other concerts are scheduled for Saturday, May 16, at 2 p.m., and Wednesday, May 20, at 7
p.m.

This Wednesday's program will include Peter Mennin's
"Canzona," Vincent Persichelli's
"Psalm for Band" and Mendelsohn's "Overture for Band."
The popular selections will comprise several marches and music from "West Side Story" and "Bye Bye Birdie."

Robert Leist, band director, will present the third public performance of selections from the World's Fair production,
"Wonderworld," by Jules Styne, which Mr. Leist arranged.
The premiere of this work in concert form was given by the Band in New York in March, the first performance of the Band there.

PHS CHOIR TO GAIN
From Service Club Concert.
The High School choir, between typhoid shots and the intricacies of Hungarian harmonies, is rehearsing for its May 16 concert, sponsored by Briny, Kiwanis and Lions clubs. Tickets are available by mail from McCarter for next Saturday's benefit concert.

The choir's second European tour will include Italy, England and Hungary, and the 55-voice group is learning three Hungarian folk songs by Zoltan Kodaly for performance at the Budapest Music Festival.
The 63-year-old composer, who has trained many teen-age choirs in sight reading and choral skills, will be honored at the Festival.

TO BEAT THE BAND: Musicians from Witherspoon School will join the music men of the Princeton University Concert Band in a young people's concert after school next Thursday in McCarter Theatre. Here, in a warm-up session, are sixth-graders Martha Stange (flute) and David Parmenter (trumpet) with Daniel Smith, '65, (clarinet) president of the band (left, rear) and Frank Schmidt, '65 (trumpet).

Joseph Kovacs, concert master for the Princeton Symphony Orchestra, is directing the choir in the harmony of the Hungarian words. Thomas Hillish, choir director, reports he and his aides are planning to make tape recordings of the Choir's Princeton concert and some of the overseas performances.

The British Broadcasting Company has offered assistance in recording some of the concerts in England. It is hoped the material will be available on a disc later this year.

GLEE CLUB TO SING
Friday in Alexander Hall.
The University Glee Club will give a concert this Friday at 8 in Alexander Hall, opening House Parties Weekend. It will be the season's final performance.

The program will include Schubert's "Ständchen," Handel's "Welcome as the Cheerful Light," Randall Thompson's
"Tarentella," drinking songs, spirituals, folk songs, and Princeton rally songs.

William Parker, baritone, will sing the Scottish folk song,
"Ca' the Yowes," and another highlight of the concert will be Edward Lawton's "Casey
Jones." Walter L. Nollner's
"Princetonlana," a football medley, will receive its first performance at the concert. He is the Glee Club's conductor.

SUNDAY CONCERT SET
By PHS Instrumentalists.

Four instrumental ensembles from Princeton High School will present their annual spring concert this Sunday at 3 in the school auditorium. The groups are the string ensemble, full orchestra, symphonetta band and full concert band.

The two soloists to be presented are Connie Nisbet, flautist, who will play Night Soliloquy with the string ensemble, and Paul Eisler, who will perform on the saxophone
in a modern ballad, Nightfall, by John Morrissey.

The full orchestra will present works by Moussorgsky, Glere and Howard Hanson.
with the string ensemble playing the first movement of a suite by C. P. E. Bach. The symphonetta band's contribution will be the first two movements of Vincent Persichetti's Symphony for Band.

The band's clarinet section will be featured in Prelude and Caprice by Ralph Hermann.
The concert band will play a special arrangement of the Battle Hymn of the Republic, loaned by the Air Forces Symphonie Band, in commemoration of the Civil War centennial.

The symphonetta band will be at Mansfield High School in Massachusetts next week,
where it will perform the same pieces.

COUNTDOWN ON CIVIL RIGHTS: 10-9-8-7-7-7. . . . when, if ever, is Congress going to act, ask Negroes. Among those who gave their opinions on the delay of the civil rights bill are Andrew Hatcher Sr. (left) and Edward McEwen. (Mr. Hatcher's son served as assistant press secretary under Pierre Salinger during President Kennedy's administration.)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think progress in getting a civil rights bill passed has been too slow or not?

Where asked: Around town.

Andrew Hatcher Sr., 138 Birch Avenue, waiter at King's Court: Yes, I do. President Johnson can say he wants a civil rights bill passed all he wants to but if he doesn't get any cooperation from Congress, it isn't going to be. Congress can pass it if they want to. It's been delayed too long. We're not living 300 years ago; we're living now. If the authorities would only do half-way right, this delay wouldn't happen. But for 300 years they never did anything; they just keep throwing it in the gutter. A lot of people have gotten the wrong idea. They feel if a civil rights bill passes, the races will intermingle. That's got nothing to do with it.

Edward McEwen, 27 Green Street, school crossing guard: Yes, entirely too long. We should have had it a long time ago. I thought for a while it would never go through but I do now. I feel the President we have now is a great man just like the one we lost. I feel President Johnson is behind the civil rights bill all the way; I'm quite sure of that.

Bayard Jordan, 114 Leigh Avenue, part-time employee, Princeton University Store: No, I'm satisfied with the progress on the bill. I think they're making headway on it. I hope they'll pass it. I don't know just when but I think it will be passed sometime this year.

Thomas A. Moore, 19 Green Street, taxi driver: You know it's been too slow. Congress has had plenty of time to act—100 years. I'm in hopes that one will be passed soon.

Jacqueline Johnston, 64 Leigh Avenue, Rider College freshman: Yes, I think it has been too slow. Seems the Negroes have been fighting for their rights for over 100 years. They could have done something long before this. Before he died, President Kennedy seemed sincere in his effort to get a civil rights bill passed and I feel President Johnson will have to follow him in this. I have a feeling Congress will drone on and on and eventually forget about it. I do think with President Johnson on the scene, a bill will eventually be passed but it may take three or four years before it finally comes. I think if the civil rights demonstrators ever let up, we'd never get it passed.

Roy Todd, 25 Lytle Street, retired laborer: Sure, it's been too slow. They've had 100 years to make up their minds. Congress has had six months to do something and it hasn't done a thing yet. I think they're going to drag this on until the last minute before election time. Then they'll close down and go out and campaign and try to get elected again. I don't think it will pass this year—not at the rate they're going.

Miss Leona Robinson, 194 John Street, beautician: Oh, I don't think so. I think they're doing a pretty good job, really. I'm not sure if it will pass this year but I hope so.

Walter Massey, 85 Birch Avenue, school crossing guard: Yes, I think it has. I think Congress has had time to decide to do something by now. President Johnson says a bill will be passed but it's hard to say. I hope it will.

William Gatewood, 58 Birch Avenue, restaurant employee: These things take time—I know that. I feel Congress is trying to get a civil rights bill passed. It's hard to say if one will be but I hope so.

Mrs. T. R. Williams, 119 Witherspoon Street, waitress at Imperial Restaurant: Yes, it could be speeded up. It seems to be one of those long drawn out, pass-the-buck situations. It's too bad it has to be bickered over like this since equal rights is something that should be for all men. But since it is this way, yes, I feel progress is too slow. There is this problem with the southern Democrats filibustering—that could be eliminated—there are a lot of things that will have to be worked out. Perhaps the bill will have to be broken down before it passes. It will take a long time. No, I don't think a bill will be passed this year. At least not until after election. I feel if Johnson gets back in, he will take a more direct stand. Right now, his hands are tied.

Wilson Nelson, 7 Leigh Avenue, cook: Yes, it's been too slow. They've had plenty of time to pass on it. It's hard to say if one will ever be passed, in my opinion. They're moving too slow now.

Robert O'Neal, 644 State Road, taxi owner: Yes, I feel it has. Congress can pass every bill that comes along but when it comes to civil rights, they slow down, find fault and back up. I know it isn't going to be easy to work out but I feel they could get together and do something. It's a possibility that one may be passed this year but I'm not overly optimistic.

Samuel Johnson, 28 Lytle Street, waiter: I think it is moving too slow but I also feel what good is it going to do. Even if we get a bill, civil rights has to come from the individual. Regardless of what comes through, it's not going to change a lot of people's minds.

Charles Kemp, Trenton, odd-job man: I'd rather Congress take their time, to tell the truth, and do a good job than be in a hurry and just give us anything. I feel a bill like this will take about two to three years before it can get through both houses. As long as they keep at it, that's what counts. The main thing is not only getting a civil rights bill but that they make it a good one.

Richard Montgomery, 171 John Street, mechanic for Pete's and Mike's Mobil Station: In my opinion, I think it's a little slow; it could be pushed along faster. I've heard a lot of people say the same thing: it could be speeded up. Congress usually puts up a hard fight against every bill but they usually manage to get around to passing one. I feel there's a good chance it may pass this year.

Music in Princeton

FRIENDS CONCERT SET
Works by Six Students. The Friends of Music will present the work of six graduate students next Wednesday, May 13, at 8:30 in Room 110 of the Woolworth Center. The composers are George Todd, Edward Laufer, Alan Hoard, Stephen Parslin, Edwin Dugger and David Del Tredici.

Mr. Todd's Episodes from a Suite for Wind Sextet will open the program, and Virginia Switten will sing Mr. Laufer's Sonnet, with a text by Rilke. Instrumental Prelude to Three Poems by E. E. Cummings by Mr. Hoard, and Mr. Parslin's Two Odes of Sophocles for vocal quartet will follow.

Yoshiko Ito, soprano, will sing Mr. Dugger's One A. M. with a text by Tom Dillingham, and I Hear an Army by Mr. Del Tredici. The Manhattan String Quartet will perform in the last piece. Its members are: Marie Koscak, second violin; Barbara Baird, viola, and Charles Forbes, cello.

The concert, open to the public without charge, is sponsored by the Roy Dickinson Welch Memorial Fund and the Creative Arts Program.

BACH MASS SET

For Musical Amateurs. The final meeting of the season for the Society of Musical Amateurs will be held this Sunday at 5 in Miss Fine's School gymnasium. J. Merrill Knapp will direct the orchestra for Bach's B Minor Mass.

Soloists include: Laura Hayes, soprano; Thelma Young, mezzo-soprano; Jacqueline Pierce, alto; James Heard, tenor, and Fadlou Shehadi, bass. Leon DeBois will serve as accompanist.

The public is invited to the meeting. Reservations should be made by calling 924-0453 this Thursday so that arrangements can be made for music and refreshments.

TO THE BIG TOWN

Opera Goes to Philadelphia. Singers from the Princeton Opera Association will make their first appearance in Philadelphia on Sunday, May 10, with scenes from three French operas. The performance will be given at the Commercial Museum of Philadelphia's Trade and Convention Center at 3 p.m.

Members and friends of the Association may obtain tickets in the sponsors' section by calling 921-2148.

For their Philadelphia debut, the singers have chosen Act IV of Halevy's opera, "La Juive," in which Virginia Cole, Mary Ecroyd, William Eckert and Woodward Waesche will sing. Act II of Massenet's "Werther" with Jamison Gill, Muriel Long and Debbie Truxall and Act IV of Massenet's "Cleopatra" with Joyce Gill, Ruth Matern and William Guthrie.

The Princeton Opera Association was invited to the Commercial Museum as a result of a story on the group in a Philadelphia newspaper. The Association made its first public appearance a year and a half ago at Westminster Choir College.

SINGER IN PREVIEW

Tipton at Lawrenceville. Clyde Tipton will sing in Lawrenceville School on Sunday, May 10, the program he will give in New York's Town Hall next fall under the sponsorship of the Concert Artists Guild. The recital will be given at 4 p.m. in the Kirby Arts Center, Lawrenceville, and the public is invited.

For his program, Mr. Tipton has chosen Mozart's "Mentre il Lascio," Schubert's songs from "Schwanengesang," a sacred cantata, "O Plenus Irarum Dies" by Sebastian de Brossard, with John Winterbottom of the Princeton Symphony Orchestra as cello accompanist; and songs by Duparc and Charles Ives including Ives' "General William Booth Enters His Vault."

In addition to Mr. Winterbottom, Mr. Tipton will be accompanied by John Ellis, pianist.

READY, TENORS?

Chorus to Sing. The fifth annual Spring Concert of the Hopewell Valley Chorus will be given in the auditorium of the Hopewell Elementary School on Friday, May 15, at 8:30.

Singers under the direction of Jack Littlebeck, will offer Randall Thompson's "The Last Words of David," Handel's "Zadok the Priest," "A Rose Touched by the Sun's Warm Rays," by Jean Berger; "Scarlet Ribbons," by Jack Segal and Evelyn Danzig; selections from Leonard Bernstein's score for "West Side Story," Ralph Vaughan-Williams' "Serenade to Music" and "St. Louis Blues."

New officers of the Chorus are John Conover, president; Leo Livochi, treasurer; Melita Johnson, corresponding secretary and Dena Dodson, recording secretary. Caroline Cushman is the accompanist.

RECITALS PLANNED

Ry Kannan Pupils. Voice and piano students of James B. Kannan will perform in a series of three recitals in St. Paul's School auditorium. The first will be held this Sunday at 3 p.m., with the second and third scheduled for Sunday, May 17 and 24, at the same time.

The public is invited this Sunday to hear voice selections by Anne Goeke, Roberta Clark, Mary Anne Telesse, Ruth Tams and Cheri King. Performances on the piano will be given by Ronald Scullin, Doug Cranstoun, Michael Koyliner, Tim Kearns, David Male, Roger Seltzer, Michael Wylie, Penny Cranstoun, Lynn Skillman, Cheri King, Cathy Watson.

Also, Ruth and Georgia Tams, Sally Jackson, Carolyn Yoder, Maureen O'Malley, Shelly Bonin, Mary Telesse, Eileen Romeo, Sandy Scaramazzino, Laura Male, Regina Mazzella and Kathy Haupt.

Ronald Scullin, piano, and Anne Goeke, voice, will appear on the 17th in a private recital, with family and friends invited.

The student recital on the 24th is open to the public. Sandy Scaramazzino and Kathy Watson, piano students, and Roberta Clark and Mary Anne Telesse, voice pupils, will appear.

PLUM PUPILS TO PLAY

Next Sunday, the 'cello students of Miss Deloris Plum will give their annual recital next Sunday, May 17, at 24 Murray Place. The performers will be Omdina Fiore, Laurie Wagner, Lisa Holt, Kelley Martin, Beth Schuman, Grace Ramus and Pat Weiner.

Miss Plum will play three short pieces by Ernest Bloch to close the program.

MAKE BIKES SAFE

Township to Inspect. The annual bicycle inspection in the Township, under the auspices of the Police Department and the schools, will be held next week. The schedule is Monday, 9 a.m., Community Park; 1 p.m., Johnson Park; Tuesday, Littlebrook; Wednesday, Valley Road; Thursday, May 14, Riverside; and Friday, May 15, rain date.

The points to be checked include brakes, lights, reflector on back, audible warning device (but no siren), handle bar grips, chain guards and general condition (fenders, no loose equipment, correct position of handle bars, etc.). Bicycle owners are urged to examine these items prior to inspection.

Walter Emann, Township patrolman, began the program earlier this week with films on bicycle and pedestrian safety. He hopes to register all bicycles in the Township by serial number, and asks parents to bring them for inspection.

According to Norman Van Arsdalen, physical education director, 517 bikes were inspected under the program last year, 70 more than in 1962.

PANCAKES THIS SUNDAY

In Rocky Hill. The annual spring pancake breakfast, sponsored by the Rocky Hill Volunteer Fire Department, is set for 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. this Sunday. Proceeds are earmarked for a two-way radio system. Chief Jack Nicholson, chairman, announces there will be a full-course breakfast of orange juice, hot cakes and sausage for all comers. Tickets are $1 for adults; 50c for children under age 12. Jack O. Nicholson, WA 4-3227, is ticket chairman.

BROOMS FOR SALE

Through West Windsor Lions. Brooms, brushes, mops, rakes, door mats and other items will be sold door to door this Saturday by the 57 members of the West Windsor Lions Club. C. Lawrence Dey, chairman, has said the sale will begin at 9. Many of the articles are made by the blind.

Proceeds will go to sight conservation, projects for the blind, wheel chair club, activities for boys and girls including Scouts and Little League baseball, and other civic improvement programs.

LEAGUE TOUR OPEN

Will Set Legislature. Women in the Princeton area are invited to join the League of Women Voters on Monday, May 18, for a tour of the State Legislature and lunch with the Mercer County delegation. Reservations should be made through Mrs. John Westlake, 921-2896.

The trip will begin at 10 a.m. when the group will leave Princeton to visit the General Assembly. The lunch will be held at 1 p.m. at the Stacy-Trent Hotel, with the visit to the Senate scheduled for 2 p.m. The tour will be guided by Mrs. Gino Treves, 9 Adams.

Topics Of The Town

Drive, state tax chairman of the Princeton League.

FOOD: LOTS OF CHOICE

At Hospital Fete. Visitors to the Princeton Hospital Fete, to be held Saturday, June 6, on Fitzpatrick Field, will be able to choose an almost infinite variety of food to eat on the spot or take home for the freezer. Mrs. Douglas L. Corlette and Mrs. C. Stanley Green are the ladies in charge of the committee.

First of all, 6,000 hot dogs have been ordered, but the choice will begin with sandwiches to be fabricated by dozens of amateur short-order workers. The Hospital Volunteers are planning on 4,000 of these, to run the gamut from peanut butter to chicken salad. Individual desserts will be available, too.

The women of the churches (including Princeton, Cranbury, Dutch Neck, Franklin Park, Griggstown, Harborton, Hightstown, Hopewell, Kendall Park, Lawrenceville, Pennington, Rocky Hill and Sand Hills) will provide cookies, cakes, pies and rolls to take home.

The Presbyterian Churches in Princeton (see picture, this page) will set up an "assembly line" on May 26 and 27 for the production of 150 main dish gourmet casseroles. They will be frozen immediately so that purchasers may remember the Fete weeks or months later. The kitchen of First Church will be used for the cooking.

FIFTH REVIEW PLANNED

On Shakespeare's World. Three reviewers will participate in the fifth session sponsored by the Public Library and the Jewish Center next Wednesday, May 13, at 9:30 at the Center. The World of Shakespeare will be theme of the meeting. Coffee will be served at 9:30 and the reviews will begin at 10.

Marchette Chute's "Shakespeare of London" will be reviewed by Veronica Cary, director of the Trenton Public Libraries, with Edward L. Hubler, professor of English at the University, to discuss "William Shakespeare: A Biography" by A. L. Rowse.

Arthur Lithgow, McCarter Theatre's executive director, teacher, actor and director of Shakespeare, will review Peter Quennell's biography of the playwright. Reading lists and many books by and about Shakespeare are available at the Public Library.

SENATE PETITIONED

By PAHR, SNCC. Over 1300 signatures have been obtained on a civil rights petition which will be sent to Senate leaders this month. The petition has been circulated by the Princeton Association for Human Rights and Friends of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

Members of the latter group, high school and college students, have asked for signatures on street corners during the past three weeks. The petition urges the civil rights bill be passed quickly without major alterations. It also asks the Petitions in circulation should bill be voted upon as soon as be returned there by this Friday debate ceases to have substance.

Those wishing to sign the petition may do so at the PAHR From Lawrence Schools, office, 170 Witherspoon Street. Four teachers in the Lawrence

FOUR TO RETIRE

Four teachers in the Lawrence

Township school system will be honored next Wednesday, May 13, by the Lawrence Township Education Association. The Association's annual dinner will be held at 7 at the Geneva Inn, Route 1.

The four, with a total of 161 years' service to Lawrence schools, are: Miss Esther Gaynor, third grade, Eldridge Park; Miss Polly Stout, second grade; Mrs. Mahel Taler, sixth grade; and Miss Helen Titus, third grade, all from Lawrenceville Elementary.

The retiring teachers are members of the National Education Association, New Jersey Education Association, Lawrence Township Association, New Jersey Classroom Teachers Association and Mercer County Education Association. Must have served as officers of these organizations as well.

The "Natural You" you never knew...

Now—Bamberger's and Peter Pan brings you the bra and girdle that doesn't push or poke or pad you into shape. They start with you and end with you and rely on only the most artful stitching, ingenious little inserts and clever curving devices to shape the "natural you" you never knew. And, if you think you like the way they look—wait till you feel them on. Peter Pan's gone nature one better—the fabrics are science's most powerful lightweight. Do come in and discover for your-elf the curves you never knew you had. Then show them off to perfection under the Wilroy Band-Lon® shift (shown) from our Mirror Room, 24.99.

The bra that creates the contours you never knew were yours—without padding
 It's "ingenious" by Peter Pan—the bra with the self-adjusting elastic mid-strap that provides a gentle lift to your bust, filling and rounding the upper part of the cups. There's no padding, no rigidity, no wires, no weight—it just makes the most of you. Sizes 32 to 36A and 32 to 38B and C in white lace with adjustable stretch straps as shown, $5; also in Dacron® polyester with embroidered cups at 3.95.

The girdle that rounds your derriere—slims and firms you without flattening
 It's from the wonderful Young America Collection inspired by Olga Cassini in Lycra® spandex with Lycra® powernet hands that gently lift your rear to shapely roundness. This panty line has a too, that slim your thighs. Yet it does it all without any constricting or restricting feeling, just by lightly holding nature aloft. The new rounded derriere look is yours for the asking now—so get it tomorrow. In white, S, M and L, 10.95.

ART In Princeton

ART GROUP FORMED

Public Invited. "The Princeton Art Association, Inc., cordially invites you to attend its First Open Meeting which will be held at The Unitarian Church of Princeton, Cherry Hill Road, on Wednesday, May 13, at 8 o'clock. The public is invited."

The invitation announces the first general meeting of a newly formed art association in Princeton. At this time, the corporation is to be introduced to the community, its purposes and immediate program described, and membership solicited in its various projects. Peter Cook will conduct the meeting as temporary chairman and Hughie Lee-Smith will present the program. All who are interested in promoting art in the community are urged to attend.

Briefly, the purposes of the Association are to foster interest in the Visual Arts, with particular emphasis on painting, graphics and sculpture, to establish an educational and cultural program of exhibitions, lectures, workshops, movies and other such activities, to bring together all those people with these interests in common.

The Association intends to fulfill a pressing need for the organization of art interests in the Princeton area which has had no comparable association since the demise of Group Arts some years ago. The intention is to work in close cooperation with the school and particularly with the University whose new museum is currently under construction.

Open To All. Membership will be open to all concerned and will be divided into three categories: artist members, associate members (those who do not paint, draw or sculpt, but would like to help in the various activities), and patrons. (Guess what patrons do?)

Here is a chance to do for Art what has been done so rewardingly for Music by the music organizations: Friends of Music, Musical Amateurs, the Symphony Orchestra Association and countless others. But, in order to be as effective, the Princeton Art Association must draw on wise and practical help from the community.

Show At Present Day Club. The dark paneled walls of the Present Day Club make a handsome background for this month's exhibit of tapestries by Aon Wiseman Denzer. Though the subjects are usually colorful wild animals and flamboyant scenes, the finished products stay on the walls, fitting in as you might want them to in your own home.

An orange sofa repeats the color and helps to "settle" the voluptuous "Turkish Delight" which hangs above it. The haughty "Peacock" who displays the whole brilliant fan of his feathers, looks formal and upright over a side table. Perhaps out of place in a ladies' club and certainly not for the American Bird-Lover is Mrs. Denzer's "Gatto Cattivo," a Tuscan cat who stands guard over his kill, a poor stiff little bird whose feet stick straight up, and the cat dares us to scold.

Tigers are a favorite subject, but none of them are strictly Princeton variety, though Mrs. Denzer could create one on order with ease. Her "Tamarack Tiger" is light-flecked as the pussy-foots out of the bush and there is a Gauguin effect which makes you aware of things going on in the background, little by little. The most intriguing design is hot off the hooks, "The Peaceable Kingdom" with a magnificent King of the Beasts, a noble tiger and two contented lambs. This one combines all the talents of this artist, the imagination, dignity and humor, the sense of composition and color and that nice feeling, non-sentimental, of the world of make believe.

Shahn Show For SNCC

At Gallery 100, from May 11 through 16, and under the auspices of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, there will be a benefit exhibition of autographed prints and lithographs by the well-known artist, Ben Shahn.

Proceeds from the admission fee (50 cents) and any subsequent sales will go to sponsor a Freedom Summer School in Mississippi for grade school Negroes. Already 15 students from the University and one from Miss. Fine's School have been signed up to teach or assist in the program this summer.

Through the years, Mr. Shahn has given generously of his talent and support to many of the civic and cultural projects of the town and University. Now again, he is joining with Gallery 100 in a vital contribution which aids and endorses the efforts of SNCC.

Varied Experience. Born in New York, Mrs. Denzer studied at the Art Student's League and in Paris. She worked at the Modern Museum of Art on "Children's Holiday Festival", decorated windows for Lord and Taylor's, designed textiles for Fuller Fabrics and has been the author and illustrator for a children's book, "Tony's Flower," published by Vanguard. She paints and draws, designs and makes doll houses, evening skirts, quilts and wall decorations and has turned to tapestry work while being a full-time mother.

"You need the Muses for painting . . . that quiet contemplation . . ." and this is hard to conjure up with two small children. Hooking rugs is the kind of work you can leave and pick up later, much later if necessary. While living in the coastal town of Robinhood, Maine, she watched the fishermen's wives making their rugs and she started to cut and dye her own scraps and to work her own designs. During two recent years in Italy, she found wonderful wool and has used this material ever since for its strength and clarity. The results are delightful to see and make an interesting and different show at the Present Day Club.

Sculpture Exhibit Opens. The Woodrow Wilson Society of Princeton University is presenting an exhibition of sculpture by Elis Velikovsky in Wilcox Hall, through May 16. Mrs. Velikovsky, now a Princeton resident, studied under Oronzio Maldarelli at Columbia University.

She has exhibited at the Whitney Museum of American Art, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and received a First Prize at the New Jersey State Exhibition, Montclair Museum, in 1958. The current show includes sculptures in stone, lead, wood and terra cotta, plus a small group of rouches, and is open to the public daily from 2 to 10 p.m.

WE Congratulate

PETE MORGAN
Track Coach

"... And this," the track coach said to the star high school sprinter, "is our cage." Inside the sprawling building, distance runners were jogging around the track, a pole vaulter was raising the bar for a shot at 14 feet, a broad jumper was racing toward the take-off. Outside, six inches of snow covered the ground and a raw February wind gave promise of more.

The scene, unfortunately, is frequently staged on campuses other than Princeton's — and Princeton, without a cage, finds that star high school sprinters and other promising athletes tend to enroll where the track facilities are not of the polar bear variety. A cage has been blue-printed at Princeton, but there are even today — neither sufficient funds nor a ground-breaking date.

In the face of a steady deficiency of material, Pete Morgan has accomplished a great deal on behalf of Princeton track fortunes. Despite vastly superior winter facilities at Harvard, Yale, Cornell, Dartmouth and the service academies, the Tigers pop up consistently with Heptagonal champions. They continue to dominate colleges whose training conditions approximate theirs, and every now and then, they stage a whistling upset.

Such a triumph was recorded Saturday on Yale's wind-swept DeWitt Cuyler Field, where Princeton's eager track forces won places they never had coming to them on form, wound up with enough points to win before the mile relay was held. It was a 79-70 final, and the first Tiger victory over the perennially strong Elis since 1953.

Princeton took ten of 17 firsts on the chill spring afternoon, including sweeps of the pole vault and mile run. But in addition, it was the seconds and thirds that could not be counted on until the actual performances took place that swung the balance to the Orange and Black.

These achievements are the real backbone of successful coaching in track — the points won by performers who spend countless hours improving what is often no more than ordinary ability. Morgan's coaching, and that of his assistants, Bill Whitton and Irwin Weiss, compensates insofar as is humanly possible for the lack of adequate indoor facilities. Weiss, of course, is the former Princeton High School coach under whose guidance the Little Tigers reached such peaks in the post-war years, and whose work in the field events in Palmer Stadium has meant so much to the varsity in recent seasons.

A corollary to the varsity triumph over Yale was this near-incredible freshman result the same afternoon: Princeton 121, Yale 38. Obviously, the next 11 years will be nowhere as one-sided in this rivalry. Give Pete Morgan the material, and the results are sure to follow.

probably further developed than Cornell. The late spring at Ithaca makes the Red a late bloomer: it rowed its first race Saturday, handily defeating Syracuse and Navy.

The Carnegie Cup affair should be a ding-dong battle between Yale and Cornell, with Princeton unlikely to lead either of them across the finish off its showing at Harvard. All races will cover a mile and three-quarters.

On the Charles, Harvard's heavyweights had matters very much their own way over a course shortened to 2,000 meters — the Olympic distance. They moved out in front quickly, had a half-length margin almost from the beginning and were comfortably in front by two lengths with the race only half over.

SPORTS

In Princeton

SPORTS SPECTACULAR
Great Show Here Saturday.
If warm sunshine graces the occasion, one of the busiest and most picturesque Saturdays in Princeton athletic history will unfold here this weekend.

The most enthusiastic spectators could literally watch a variety of events virtually from dawn 'til dusk, starting with the Eastern Golf Intercollegiate in which the first tee shots will be hit at 7 a.m. Saturday at Springdale. A 2:30 starting time has been set for baseball, lacrosse and tennis—all with Yale—while the first of three races in the Carnegie Cup regatta is set for 4:20, with the varsity event among Cornell, Princeton and Yale to start at 5 p.m.

For variety's sake, there is a junior varsity lacrosse game in the morning—11 a.m., Yale vs. Princeton. Other events include freshman baseball, lacrosse and tennis, again with Yale the opponent in each case. Eighteen six-man teams will enter the golf intercollegiate, in which Yale is the defending champion. With that entry list as a foundation, there will be close to 500 athletes competing here in five sports on Saturday.

Titles at Stake. The outcome of two events Saturday will determine to a great degree the chance that Princeton teams have of defending successfully titles they hold. John Conroy's tennis team, a slim 5-4 victor Saturday over Harvard, is expected to defeat Yale by a somewhat greater margin and move toward its fourth straight Eastern Association championship.

Ferris Thomsen's lacrosse team must look elsewhere for help if it is to win its eighth straight Ivy title outright. The Tigers were beaten in league action by Penn last week, 6 to 4, marking the first time since 1956 that they had been defeated in league play. They bounced back to top Harvard at Cambridge, 7-6, but unless Yale or Dartmouth can top the Crimson in the next fortnight, a tie for first will be the best the Tigers can do.

CREW SOUNDLY BEATEN

And May Be Third Saturday. Virtually all of the drum-beating that has been signalling hopes of a Princeton trip to Tokyo next fall faded into the distance Saturday. On the wind-whipped waters of the Charles River at Cambridge, the Tiger varsity trailed a fine Harvard boat by three and a half lengths.

It was a day of complete reversal for Princeton rowing fortunes. Whereas the previous week the Tigers had finished first in all five races in the Childs Cup regatta against Penn and Columbia, they trailed the well-balanced Crimson navy in every race at Cambridge. The latter took every event save the third varsity, which went to M.I.T. Princeton finished the afternoon with a disappointing showing of two seconds and two thirds, not entering the second freshman race.

Saturday's action on the lake is expected to draw a Houseparty crowd running to thousands, figures to be dominated by Yale—not so much because the Elis are without peer in the East but because at this stage of the season, they are

Sports In Princeton

Even in losing, Princeton's shell broke the course record for 2,000 meters on the Charles. The Tigers were a second below the mark of 6:15.4 that had stood since 1948—but Harvard was a full 15 seconds under the old standard, covering the distance in 6:00.5. Tech finished close to two lengths behind Princeton.

The Tigers' trouble is apparent inability to get the maximum performance out of their veteran crew under racing conditions. On Saturday, for example, the varsity was only five seconds better than the javes—in contrast to practice sessions which have consistently seen them ten to 15 seconds faster.

Princeton's April success proved to be an unsatisfactory yardstick. Of the crews it defeated—Rutgers, Navy, Penn. Columbia—only Rutgers has since won, and only over Dartmouth and Boston University, which are well out of the rowing hierarchy.

LACROSSE TEAM UPSET

Beaten by Penn in Mud. Herbert Hoover was still in the White House when Pennsylvania last defeated Princeton in lacrosse. It was in 1932.

Last Wednesday, on a field so waterlogged that it reminded onlookers of the Princeton-Dartmouth "hurricane" football game of 1950, the Quakers outscored the defending champions, 6 to 4. Mud and over-confidence combined to upset the Tigers, who took a quick 4-1 lead and found they could not coast until the clock ran out.

Small ponds of water a couple of inches deep covered a good portion of Fitzpatrick Field, and a cold east wind driving more rain at the combatants throughout the contest. It was, however, the determined visitors who best adapted to the conditions, and they whittled away at the Tigers' early advantage until there was no doubt as to which team played the better lacrosse that day.

Gone in the muck was Princeton's string of 38 successive Ivy games played without a defeat since 1956—a record marred only by a tie with Harvard in 1960. The outcome left Saturday's game with the Crimson an absolute "must" for the Tigers.

ted to the conditions, and they whittled away at the Tigers' early advantage until there was no doubt as to which team played the better lacrosse that day.

Gone in the muck was Princeton's string of 38 successive Ivy games played without a defeat since 1956—a record marred only by a tie with Harvard in 1960. The outcome left Saturday's game with the Crimson an absolute "must" for the Tigers.

Defense Grows Stronger. At Cambridge, a crowd of better than 1,000 watched, but waited in vain for Harvard's first triumph over Princeton since 1925. Ferris Thomsen's improving operatives built a 6-3 lead in the first half, and the Crimson never caught up as the Tigers' defense took charge.

Sophomore Graeme Flanders was a standout in the goal, getting fine assistance from a trio of football players: fullback Cosmo Iacavazzi, linebacker Don Roth, tailback Don McKay as the game grew rougher during the second half. Harvard came as close as 6-5 before Jim Okie provided a vital insurance goal with seven minutes to go. Princeton yielded one more, but it was a 7-6 final to boost the Orange and Black into a tie for first place.

SKY TO FACE VALE

Tiger Southpaw Is Good. As is its custom, the Princeton baseball team got few hits and few runs Saturday for left-hander Gerry Sky. They made only four of each, failed to score in the last seven innings, but the Tiger junior made his meager allotment stand up.

The result was an unexpected 4-3 triumph over defending champion Dartmouth, the first Princeton victory since April 18 and the first for the Orange and Black in four Eastern League games. Sky will be on the mound Saturday when the Tigers face Yale on Claik Field in a battle to leave second division. Like Princeton.

the Elias have been under the 500 mark this spring and, in addition, have no pitcher of Sky's calibre.

The four hits Princeton managed against Dartmouth hurler Bob MacArthur were not enough for victory, but two wild throws contributed by the Indian pitcher made all the difference. Only one of the victors' four runs was driven in—on a grounder by Captain Wally Uble—the other three scoring on MacArthur's wild heaves.

After the Tigers took a 1-0 lead in the first, Jack Singer singled and Blake Stafford doubled to open the second. Singer should have been out at the plate on Ron Landeck's tap to the mound but MacArthur threw home wide. One out later, he tried to pick Landeck off first and when the ball sailed far down the right field foul line, Landeck scored all the way from first behind Stafford.

That was it for the day, but Sky was equal to the task. Through seven innings, he yielded only two hits. He weakened thereafter, allowing three walks, a wild pitch and three hits—one of them a double—in the final two frames that produced three runs. But with the tying run on second, and two away in the final inning, Emile Rosenberg came on to record the last out on a comebacker.

TOURNAMENT STARTS

At Springdale. Eleven out of 16 first round matches have been played in annual handicap competition for the President's Cup at Springdale Golf Club. In the qualifying medal play, John Chubet led with a net 69.

In first round matches, Lou Brush beat Chubet, 2 up; Elliott McVitty beat Tom Jones, 1 up; Alex Buck beat Buck Holder, 3 and 1; Lew Sarrett beat Fred Blaicher, 1 up; Bill Wallace beat Leonard Berry.

3 and 2. Norm Schuele beat Fred Richards, 2 and 1. Otto Nelson beat Harry Volweider, 1 up.

Also Roland Smith beat Chris Rodgers, 6 and 5. Karl Pettit beat Jack Houghton, 3 and 2. Pete Marzoni beat Don Donahue, 1 up; and Willis Paine beat Jack Kauffman, 6 and 5.

Other qualifiers whose first round matches have not yet been played are: Bob Shillaber and Dick Leiber, Eddie Donovan and Jack White, Glen Miller and Berge Bergesen, Charlie Smith and Harvey Emery, Moore Gates and Bill Sayen. These pairings will meet Saturday or Sunday.

EWING TRIPS PHS

Runners Meet Pennington. A 1-2-3 finish in the mile, 280 and pole vault Friday carried Ewing High School's track team to a 65-51 victory over visiting Princeton High. The triumph was Ewing's fifth in six dual meets, while PHS absorbed its second defeat. It has won three.

The Little Tigers' Bill Aiken won both the low and high hurdles but it was not enough as Ewing captured firsts in all five flat races, the 100, 220, 440, 880 and mile. "Said PHS Coach Jerry Groninger after the meet, 'I thought if I could win the 220 or the half-mile, it would be pretty close but we didn't. I'd say that was probably the turning point. I was disappointed because this meet was the one I wanted to win.'"

On Friday, Pennington High School will be here for a dual meet, starting at 3:30. The next day, the annual Long Branch Relays will be held but Groninger reported PHS would not send a team. "We'd be competing against Group 4 and our relay teams just haven't shown up well enough to justify sending anyone," he said.

Next Wednesday, 18 high schools from the Delaware Valley will converge on Trenton to take part in the annual Jaycee Meet. Commenting on the event, which has grown considerably over the last few years, Groninger said he thought PHS had a good chance in the hurdles and in the javelin. "Outside of that, I don't see very much," he added.

Other winners for PHS in

POINT-GETTER: Art Brooks, co-captain of the Princeton High School track team, has consistently scored in the 440 and broad jump this spring.

the Ewing meet included Andy Kuliy in the shot and Roger Madden in the broad jump. Art Brooks, finished second in his specialties, the 440 and broad jump. Other second-place finishers were Jim McKeever, Larry Mueller and Bart Bennett.

Co-captain Jim Beachell won the javelin. His younger brother, Craig, was third.

PHS NET TEAM HALTED
By Hun, 7-1. Princeton High School's tennis team lost its first match of the season last week when it was stopped by a strong Hun School team, 7-1. Robin Platten was the Little Tigers' lone winner, as he defeated Dan Zimmerman in straight sets, 6-4, 6-1. Hun was led by Shawn Tully of Princeton. Tully blanked Dave Russinoff, 6-0, 6-0, and then combined with Zimmerman to win the number one doubles.

Earlier in the week, PHS had much more success against Rumson High. With its big three of Platten, Russinoff and Scott Demme registering singles victories, the Blue and White opened its league play with a 5-0 victory. Currently its record is 3-1.

Next week's schedule: Monday, Red Bank Catholic; Wednesday, Ashbury Park; Friday, Middletown.

REPEATS SAILING WIN

Holt Takes Carnegie Races. For the fifth week in a row, Phil Holt continued to dominate the Carnegie Sailing Club's Penguin races. With Duoh Holt as his crew, Holt last Sunday won four of the six Penguin contests with a total of 50.9 points.

Dexter Miller, with one win, was runner-up with 46.5 points. Other Penguin skippers competing were: Harry Cooke, 45.1; Walt Foster, one first, 34.0; Art Keiser, 33.4; Jake Delano, 22.0; Ed Metcalf, 20.0; Charles Smith, 12.0; and John Hemphill, 5.0.

First among skippers in the GP-14 class was George Cori, winner of five races and 28.5 points. Rick Goetz was second with 22.0 points, followed by Jerry Lawson, 18.0; Mars Vanderwaart, 12.8; and Tom Hilton, 6.1 points.

PHS STICKMEN WIN, 5-8

Stewart Brothers Score 7. Don't mention the name "Stewart" around any member of the Hanover Park High School lacrosse team.

In an exciting, double-overtime, 9-8 triumph over Hanover Park last week, sophomore Rich Stewart scored four goals, while his older brother, Sam, co-captain of the Little Tigers, added three more to account for all but two of the victors' nine tallies. In addition, each was credited with an assist.

The game was an uphill battle for PHS all the way. At the start of the final quarter, the Little Tigers trailed by two. Then they exploded for five goals in seven minutes. Single scores by Sam and Dave Hamilton and three by Rich tied the score with 50 seconds to go. Despite their two-man show, the Stewarts were denied the winning goal. That was scored by Carl Burns at 0:30 of the first of two overtime periods.

Matching the Stewarts' brilliance was goalie Pete Kline. A sophomore with only four minutes of varsity play behind him, Pete was moved up to a starting assignment when veteran goalie Spencer Willard was sidelined. Pete responded with 14 saves to 5 for his opponent.

The varsity squad will play its final home game of the season—a return match with Hanover Park—Saturday at 2 at Grover Park Field. Earlier in the week, coach Bob Arhegast's squad was beaten 10-3, by undefeated Fairlawn High School.

What every wife should know

... about her husband's life insurance. How many "I don't know's" would you score on this test?

1. How many policies does your husband own? Does he have group insurance where he works? How much is the total amount of protection provided?
2. Are any of his policies just temporary? How old will you be when this temporary protection terminates?
3. Is your husband's life insurance coordinated into a program? Is there a part earmarked to pay off the mortgage; to educate the children? How much income would it pay now? How long would it last?

It makes good sense for a wife to be well informed about her husband's insurance. Her security is the number one objective and it's through her budgeting skill that money can be set aside for the future. If you and your husband would like to review any of these questions, just call the Man from Manufacturers. You'll find him a competent and friendly adviser.

Mrs. John H. Howard, Mrs. Glen F. Hudler, Mrs. Frederick F. Lawrence, Mrs. John J. Loughlin, Mrs. Ralph H. Mather, Mrs. Elwood W. Phares III, Mrs. R. A. Rogers, Mrs. William A. Schreyer, Mrs. Charles P. Smith, Mrs. James E. Swaine Jr. and Mrs. Robert Woodsides.

The women's member-member draw tournament was held as the season's first competitive event. Eighteen-hole winners were Mrs. John Cullen and Mrs. Carl Bruer. Nine-hole winners were Mrs. William Sayen III and Mrs. Joseph Elgin.

PCD WINS TWO

To Start Baseball Season. Princeton Country Day School's baseball team won its first two games of the season. It took its opener against Pennington, 7-6, in a contest played at Pennington and highlighted by a triple by PCD Captain Tom Hudny.

In its second outing, PCD beat Witherspoon, 12-2. Four PCD team members doubled.

Jeff Delano, Scott Reid, Bob Strong and Tom Budny.

RAIN IDLES HUN NINE

Delbarton Here Saturday. According to the calendar, the Hun School's 12-game baseball season is half over, but so far, the sun and the Red and Black have been able to get together on only three occasions. Though short, its record, however, remains perfect at 3-0.

Whether the prolonged lay-off has hurt Coach Sandy Bing's squad will be answered Saturday when Hun meets Delbarton here at 2:30 in a non Penn-Jersey League contest. Wednesday the Johnny Huns will be at Pingry.

Last Friday's game with Farragut was cancelled and will not be rescheduled. The April 29 Solebury contest was postponed to May 11. The Germantown-Hun game, which had been postponed earlier in the season, will not be played unless the outcome of the final league standing depends upon it.

BOWLING NOTES

Colonials Lead League. Out in front by a margin of nine, Colonial Restaurant leads the Princeton Three-Man Classic League with 65½ wins after last week's contests. Johnson Electric, 56½, holds on the second place, with Turney Motors, 51, third.

In last week's competition, Turney Motors team rolled a new 3-game high total of 1839. Five bowlers in the loop had three-game scores over 600: Val Ranallo led with 219, 190, 233 — 642; Bill Dumble had 255, 157, 214 — 626; Mike Basile, 224, 185, 212 — 621; Al Hibbard, 180, 246, 192 — 618; and Vic Wyszynski, 179, 204, 233 — 616.

Others in the league with single games over 200 last week: Frank Delneso, 234; Joe Baldino, 216; John Gray, 213; Joe Trani, 210; Jerry Racelopi, 203; and Jack Lucey, 201.

Nassau Delicatessen continues to lead the Nassau League by six wins, a total of 62 to 56 for Tiger Garage. Tied for third at 54 wins each are Caaper & Schafer and Thorne Pharmacy.

Norm Luck was high man last week in single games with a 247. Other leading one-game scorers: Carlo Perantoni, 216; Bob Sculerati, 207; Bill Klefer, Mike Kopliner and Pros Aeschbacher, 203's; John Stackowitz, 201, and Les Anderson, 200.

HORSE SHOW SCHEDULED

At Meadow Mouse Farm. On Sunday, Meadow Mouse Farm, Cherry Hill Road, will be host to a dressage and combined event horse show in which members of the United States equestrian squad will participate along with riders from Princeton and elsewhere. Major Deszo Szilagyi, director of Meadow Mouse Farm, says that, among the members of the United States squad who will take part in the show, is Michael Plumb, U.S. representative on the Olympic Three-Day Event Team in 1960. Others include Miss Lana Dupont, Kevin Freeman, Bernard Trauring and William D. Haggard.

The show, which is being held for the benefit of the U.S. Olympic team, will start at 10 a.m. on Sunday and continue throughout the day.

TIGERS WALLOPED, 10-2

By Columbia. Chances of the Princeton baseball team's finishing above the .500 mark for the season are growing slimmer. With a 10-2 beating absorbed on Columbia's Baker Field Tuesday, the Tigers are past the half-way mark and have only a 4-9-1 record to show for it.

Fourteen Lion hits—two of them for four bases—rattled off the inadequate offerings of three Princeton pitchers. The losers were trailing, 6-0, by the time starter Emile Roseberg departed the firing line, and were never in contention thereafter.

Manhattan will be here this Thursday at 4. A trip to Philadelphia for a league game with Penn is on tap next Wednesday, following Yale's appearance here Saturday.

PHS NINE WINS FIRST

Outslugs Hunterdon Central. It was a long time in coming, but the Princeton High School team won its first game of the season Tuesday afternoon when it came from behind to defeat Hunterdon Central, 11-7. Rich Vomacka, in relief of Ron Pulling, was the winning pitcher. The game was played at Hunterdon.

The Little Tigers erupted for 11 hits, their best hitting attack of the season, as all starters connected safely with the exception of third baseman Bill McQuade. Big blows for the victors were Ken Ward's homer in the final inning with one aboard for two insurance runs; captain Jim Case's triple in the first inning when PHS scored twice, and Jeff Lowe's two-run single in the sixth. Lowe's hit was the most damaging, as his teammates scored four runs to overcome a 6-5 Hunterdon lead.

Lowe continued to lead the team in hitting with a three-for-four performance. Ward and Paul Walstad each rapped out two hits. The victory left PHS with a 1-5-1 record; Hunterdon suffered its sixth reverse in eight contests.

Cathedral Wins. The day before, the Blue and White continued its frustrating habit this season of losing by one-run margins when it dropped a 2-1 squeaker to Cathedral. It was the third one-run PHS defeat in six games.

After stranding men in scoring position in the first three innings, PHS finally pushed a lone run in the fourth on an error, a stolen base and Bill McQuade's double. Two innings later, the home-team Gaels scored a pair of runs, the second unearned.

One minus for the Little Tigers was their hitherto strong defense which was charged with four errors. Vomacka went the route and took the defeat. He struck out seven and gave up four hits.

Softball League Starts

Play was scheduled to begin this week in the Princeton Business Softball League which has a membership of eight teams. Games are played Tuesday evenings, with rain-outs held Thursdays.

Engineering Research Center is the defending playoff champion, having won the TOWN TOPICS Silver Cup last summer. RCA Labs also holds a leg on the rotating trophy as the winner in 1962.

These are the pairings for next Tuesday's games: Accelerator vs. Electro-Mechanical Research; RCA vs. Engineering Research; Howell vs. ETS, and Princeton Hospital vs. American Cyanamid.

PHS ROUTS NOTRE DAME

In Track, 91-26. Visiting Princeton High School yielded first-place finishes to Notre Dame High in the high jump, pole vault and 440 Monday, but it captured first in the remaining ten events to defeat its host easily, 91-26. It was the Little Tigers' fourth victory in six dual meets.

Double winners for PHS were Andy Kully in the shot and discus, Bart Bennett in the low and high hurdles and Larry Mueller in the 100 and 220. Kully's winning toss of 49' 2" in the shot was his best ever.

Other first-place finishers for the victors include Steve Feldman in the 880 (his first of the season in the event); Lyle Story, mile; Jim Beachell, javelin; and Roger Madden, broad jump. PHS coach Jerry Groninger said Story's time of 4:37 for the mile was "very good. He was in charge all the way." The Blue and White swept the event as well as the half-mile and javelin.

Groninger added that he was pleased with the results, not so much in the score but because the times were a lot better than in earlier meets. "Now, if we can get our half-milers to shave a couple of seconds off their times they'll be in rather respectable company."

News Of The CHURCHES

IT DOESN'T DARE RAIN
On Pentecost Sunday. Twenty thousand Presbyterians (some estimate 30,000) will rally in Palmer Stadium at 4 p.m. Sunday, May 17.

"We prefer not to mention rain," says the chairman, Dr. Arlo Duba, chaplain at Westminster Choir College.

Members of the 400 churches in the New Jersey Synod will hold a "Tercenary Service of Thanksgiving and Renewal" They will arrive by bus, car pools and car caravans. So far, nearly 200 buses have been chartered from distant parts of the state, Dr. Duba reports. "We are getting information from the churches at the rate of about five buses a day."

Some 1,400 choir singers from 130 churches have registered for the mass singing, which will be directed by Dr. George Lynn, music director at Westminster. Dr. Lynn has prepared special arrangements for the anthems and for the 20-piece brass band from Princeton University.

The featured speakers are the Rev. Dr. Elmer G. Honrighausen, dean of Princeton Seminary, and Associate U. S. Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark. Dr. Honrighausen will give an historical sermon, and Justice Clark will discuss "Presbyterians and the Law."

Among the Princetonians on Dr. Duba's committee are Professor Ernest F. Johnson, an Dean Elmer G. Honrighausen, elder at First Church, and Dr. Stuart Carothers, a First Church deacon. Faculty members at Princeton University. They are in charge of such problems as traffic, parking, and stadium facilities.

The Rev. Clarence K. Bixey, of Kingston Presbyterian is organizing 400 ushers and 20 head ushers from New Brunswick Presbytery who will assist in seating and pass the "offering bags." They will be in charge of 20 of the stadium's 26 sections.

Colonial "Touch." The offering bags are the result of the committee's concern that the wind might blow the offering off the collection plates. The bags, which hang from a hoop, are authentic reproductions of the ones used by colonial Presbyterian churches in New Jersey.

About 300 have been made by the Fenton School for Boys, under the direction of the Rev. Allan R. Winn of Covenant Presbyterian, Trenton, Synod moderator. Requests to buy the bags have already been received from various churches, as mementoes of the Tercenary rally.

Church Growth. The offering which will be considerable, is earmarked for the development of new churches. Elder Lester Barlow of the Kingston church is serving as liaison between the committee and First National Bank of Princeton, which extended its facilities and personnel.

As Pentecost Sunday is celebrated as the birthday of the Christian Church, the committee has included in the program the official organization of Somerset Presbytery, Church. The Rev. Dr. Jarvis S. Morris began as organizing pastor last fall after organizing the Community Presbyterian Church, Franklin Park. The 110 members will sit in a special reserved section, as will members of churches organized prior to 1776 and after 1949.

Members of Second Church who will serve as ushers include the Rev. F. Hugh Liffitt, Charles Grande, Charles McKee, Robert Morrison, Stanley Huff, William Reaser, Clayton Jacobus, William Toole, John Henderson and Joseph Thomas.

From First Church, Bruce Vansant, MacLeonard White, Benjamin Foote, James A. Kerr, Everett B. Garretson, Fritz Dimpel, Reginald Burroughs, William E. Lawder, William Alston and Charles Cornforth.

The rally will be held rain or shine, Dr. Duba says. The University Chapel has been reserved and the committee has asked for Dillion Gym. But the odds are against a downpour, with 20,000 Presbyterians praying for good weather.

TO SERVE SMORGASBORD At St. Matthews, Mrs. Glenn Morrison is general chairman of the smorgasbord dinner to be held this Saturday at St. Matthews' Episcopal Church, Pennington.

Assisting her are Mrs. Katherine Sutton, Mrs. Walter Palmer, Glenn Morrison, Mrs. Thomas Huber, Harry Berchold, Mrs. Frederic Wetherill and Edwin Tucker.

The dinner is the initial project of the St. Matthews' 4th

Food Fixers' Friendly Functions, which has pledged time and talent to raise funds for a larger church building. St. Matthews' has increased from 162 to 340 communicants in the past three years.

Servings will be at 5:30, 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling Glenn Morrison, 737-1013.

BULLETIN NOTES

One Candle. The first anniversary of Hillsborough Presbyterian Church will be observed Sunday at a fellowship hour following the 10 a.m. service. The Rev. Dr. Orion C. Hopper is the organizing pastor.

Church Abroad. An illustrated lecture on the Christian Church in Asia will be given by the Rev. Richard Foster at 8 p.m. this Monday before the Women's Guild of Second Presbyterian Church. Mrs. William L. Tucker and Circle 2 are hostesses. All interested women are invited.

"Religion in Modern Japan" will be discussed by Dr. Marius Jansen at the 12:15 p.m. Spring Luncheon on Monday of the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church. There will be a Japanese menu and a display of Oriental items.

Consecration. All Saints' Chapel of Trinity Parish will be consecrated at 11 a.m. Sunday by the Right Rev. Alfred L. Banyard, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of New Jersey. He will also administer the rite of confirmation and preach at the 9 a.m. service.

Ordained. G. Howard Hunt, lay leader at Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church for the past two years, received his first ordination at the recent AME Conference in Atlantic City. The Rev. Mr. Hunt will preach at Mt. Pisgah for the next two Sundays, while the pastor, the Rev. Albert Tyson, attends the AME General Conference in Cincinnati.

REAL ESTATE

1790 FARM HOUSE, 7½ ACRES

The old stone section of this rambling farm house has all the touches one would hope for: wide floorboards, exposed beams, some original glass, two fireplaces (one a walk-in), etc. Space has been added over a period of time with two frame wings to bring the total number of rooms to 10 (six bedrooms, or 5 plus playroom, 2½ baths). The "heart" of the house has a nice old country kitchen atmosphere, which is frequently enhanced by the aroma of a fresh loaf of bread on the old trestle table!

The "small-farm-sized" acreage consists of fields, woods, and stream, and is highlighted by casually natural planting. Small barn and shed will hold enough animals to fulfill the bucolic instinct of most families! $57,500

"So We Flipped a Coin"

APARTMENT FOR RENT. Lawrenceville. Available May 1. Three rooms, large kitchen, bath second floor. Five minute drive from Princeton. Call days, 921-6600, ext. 2247, evenings after 6 p.m., 896-0613 or 924-2606.

"Almost as soon as TOWN TOPICS appeared, I had five calls in answer to my advertisement," she said. "I tried to schedule the people who wanted to rent the apartment at different times, but somehow, they all wound up there together."

"When I got through showing them around, they all wanted it. We had no way to decide except to flip a coin, so we did just that!"

More calls kept coming, she told us in paying for the ad, but there was no need to do any more coin flipping.

If you have something to rent, sell, exchange or just plain give away, try an ad in TOWN TOPICS. The steady flow of replies may well cause you to flip yourself.

ELEGANT PREMIERE

To The One Family In Ten
Who Can Afford To Live In

Westwood Square

Westwood Square is not being built for everybody. It's being built for people who can afford between $26,990 and $29,990 for a home. We could build the homes for less money. But then they would be like many other homes around Trenton. They wouldn't be distinctive. They wouldn't be the most exciting new home news in Trenton in a decade.

The homes are Colonial styled. Real Colonial. Not commercial Colonial. They're built with such attention to detail that we invite you to inspect every nook and corner with a fine tooth comb.

The rooms are big. Really big. Not just a little larger than usual. The "Leisure Room" in our 2-story home, for example, stretches a spacious forty-two feet. That's how big.

If you can afford the price, you can't afford to miss seeing our samples.

Sample homes will be open Sat. & Sun.
2-6 p.m.

WESTWOOD SQUARE Westwood Drive North, Off Bear Tavern Road in Ewing Township 882-3224. Shown exclusively by Dean Realty, 35 Royal Oak Rd., Trenton, NJ 08611.

DIRECTIONS From Trenton, take Bear Tavern Road (Route 579), three tenths mile north of Scudder Falls. Turn to Mercer County's Mountain View Golf Course. Homes opposite Club House.

You Will Never See These Again . . .

Hidden under the inside perimeter of every basement floor, the homes at PRINCETON RIDGE have these three inch terra cotta drain tiles. Coupled with a hidden exterior coat of plaster and waterproof tar on the foundation walls, they allow us to guarantee you a dry basement.

Hidden value complements obvious values in every PRINCETON RIDGE home. See for yourself — drive out to Rocky Hill to inspect the home values all Princeton is talking about. The PRINCETON RIDGE models are open for you every day of the week.

ELECTRIC LIVING GUIDE

DOWN IN THE VALLEY...OR!

Electrical Heating Called "Climate Stabilizer"

"Down in the valley . . . or way up in the hills.

"The first used to be damp, rather one drafty but not any more" said the tanned retired salesman who's called Vermont, Florida and New Jersey home in the last three years.

"This time we're settling down ten miles away from my son and his wife and the grandchildren . . . but we're building our own. The last two houses we've lived in have had electrical heating and neither Ma nor I would settle for anything less."

The man is a living booster for what an electrical contractor calls the "climate-stabilizer properties of electrical heating."

Electrical heating is of course instantly available to whatever degree it's wanted, whether it's coping with a Vermont icy blast . . . or perhaps even more disconcerting (because it's always unexpected) a drop to the 40 degree level down South.

Adds the contractor: "Another reason why a totally electrically heated house withstands surrounding dampness or whistling wind is that the electrical industry got together with the non-profit insulation association back a few years to spell out exactly what constitutes a well built, well-insulated house that will make maximum use of trouble-free electrical heating — keep inside what should be inside you might say, keep out what's undesirable.

A properly-built electrically heated house is "truly a home for all seasons."

WORK SAVER, MAINTENANCE SAVER

No summer overhaul . . . and probably never any need for maintenance.

These are claims that companies selling electrical heating can back up to the homeowner without a qualm.

Electrical baseboards, radiant ceiling cables and the popular wall fixtures have either few or no moving parts "nothing to get out of order" and no boiler needing seasonal maintenance.

These are some of the factors cited for the three year popularity growth of electricity as complete home heating fuel to the point where well over one and a half million homes throughout the United States are now electrically heated throughout.

GOOD BUY OR BEST BUY?

Which should come first? New house or new car? New house, says an investment counselor in an address to the "Couples Club" of a big city church . . . where the turnover of the club membership is great as the younger members take off for new lives in the newer outlying sections.

Reasons: For putting the house before the car: — The car begins to depreciate the moment you buy it. Your house grows in value.

UP-DATE... ANTIQUE HEATING NOW!

This elegant relic reminds us of by-gone days. Be elegant, better your days ahead with total electric home heating.

— Your house is probably the major purchase you'll make in a lifetime. The sooner you invest, the more you get for your money since real estate costs keep rising.

He further suggests: "Go out of your way for electrical heating. From an investment point of view the equipment can be expected to last as long as the house does . . . further, the present perfected systems are way ahead of the times."

QUESTION BOX

- Q. How many thermostats are recommended with an electrical heating system?
- A. As many as you want. As a rule in electrically heated houses you'll find each room has its own. The separate thermostat in each room provides double benefits . . . comfort ala carte, as it were. Furthermore, it can be an economy. The thermostat can be turned low or off in rooms that are not being used.
- Q. Where do I find out which electrical heating system is for me?
- A. Just check with a contractor listed on this page. Such information—and estimates—are offered without obligation.
- Q. Is electrical heating something you can install one room at a time in an old house?
- A. By and large it's frowned on. Responsible industry advice is to have an entire house converted—with whatever reconstruction might be necessary to bring insulation up to par—all at the same time. Incidentally, the actual installation costs of an electrical heating system are surprisingly modest.
- Q. Where do I get information about the insulation standards mentioned in your column as customary with electrically heated houses?
- A. Your local utility company can supply this at no cost.
- Q. How expensive is electricity?—for home heating?
- A. Rates have dropped in practically all localities within the last several years making the price attractively "competitive." On top of favorable fuel rates, there's the strong likelihood you'll find yourself money ahead since complete home electrical heating systems as a rule require little or no maintenance.

If You Are Planning To Build, Buy or Remodel Call Any One Of The Contractors Listed Below. He'll Give You All The Facts On Total Electric Home Heating.
